BUSY PHONE LINE IS NOT NECESSARILY BEING USED

If you telephone your residence and find the line is busy, and if, subsequently, you learn no one was home at the time, naturally you feel the telephone company was at fault.

However, the folks may all be away and yet the telephone line may be busy. The house might even be boarded up and still the line could be in use. If other words, a telephone call may be busy even if no one is at home because it is perfectly possible for two people to be calling the same number from different telephone at the same time, and if two people are calling the same number at the same instant, one of them will find that the line is busy.

Another way in which the line can be busy when not in actual use is when someone has forgotten to place the receiver on the hook. In such cases, no one can put through an incoming call. Also, in the case of party-line service, use of the telephone by any one of the subscribers on the line makes it busy, no matter which number on the line is being called.
