THE FARMINGTON (Mich.) ENTERPRISE, THURSDAY, JUNE 13, 1940

By LUCIE A. O'BRIEN McClure Syndicate-WNU Service.

JENNIE slumped in the rickety kitchen rocker, her work-rough-ened hands nervelessly clasping i sodden handkerchief. Her tear-swollen eyes no longer reflected des-perate courage. They were dull with honelessness.

Hanah, servetary of the college and of the State Doard of Agriculture. This is part of a plan to remöve farm operations from the campus proper, a four-year program that began when a farm crops labora-tory was built out on the farms and completed in 1933. Then in 1939 a solis department laboratory was constructed on farm lands and veterinary facilities provided away from the min campus. Completion of the new egg lay-fing contest-house is ascheduled in time to begin the 19th annual con-test in the new building the first of October.

hopelessness. For three hours the village chief, his assistant and Mrs. Harard, the mistness of Birch Clump, had tried by every means to make the firl ad-mit taking Mrs. Jerome's expensive compact. The vanity case was on the dresser. Jennie had dided up. The case was gone. "That's the thanks I get. I took you from an institution and for two years I treated you grand.
