

WEST POINT PARK

Mrs. A. Moore and children of Detroit were Sunday guests of her sister, Mrs. John Weigle.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Tallman visited Mr. Tallman's parents in Detroit Sunday. Mr. Tallman, Sr., is on the sick list.

The two young children of Mrs. Lenhardt, of Mayfield avenue, are quite ill.

Baby Oweneth Mae Schmitt, of Shadydale avenue, is recovering from a severe sickness.

Miss Lucile Carter has been on the sick list.

Mrs. Lawrence Way has been quite ill with an infected throat.

Mrs. Ralph Voorhees entertained a number of friends at luncheon and cards Thursday afternoon. Proceeds were for the benefit of West Point Park's baseball players.

Mrs. Harold McVicar visited her grandfather, Fred Sharpe, in the Redford district, Wednesday. Mr. Sharpe is ill.

The first birthday offering to be presented the Sunday School in Rev. Cameron's Mission was given Sunday by Mrs. Walter Dixon. Something interesting happens every Sunday in this school which meets at 3:45 p. m. Adults as well as children find a place in the service. Visitors are always welcome.

A very enjoyable song-sing followed Rev. Cameron's preaching service in the Mission Sunday night. Rev. Cameron is a sincere, earnest preacher and a member of the Presbyterian church. Old and young are invited to hear him.

A number of adults of their own accord are sitting in the back seats and taking in the instruction given the young people by Rev. Cameron Friday nights in the Mission. The order is excellent, but if you care to hear some live singing and real co-operation on the part of youthful folk students, attend these meetings.

Mrs. Gordon Vance who, since her beginning has been the faithful organist at Rev. Cameron's meetings, found a handsome new Bible waiting on her instrument when she appeared for duty Sunday.

Miss Eleanor Juntila returned to Bellare, Michigan, where she is teaching, after visiting her uncle John Attama and other relatives in Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Bergin and daughter Sharon of Howell spent Sunday with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Addis.

Miss Doris Gilbert was home from work all last week, on account of illness.

Mrs. Elmer Heichman was the guest Thursday of her sister, Mrs. Lionel Coffin, of Plymouth.

EIGHT TYPES OF FOOD ADVISED BY MSC EXPERT

Put in the frills, but be sure first that the family garden has those vegetables that will offer sensible, healthy foods, suggests Roberta Hershey, extension specialist in home economics at Michigan State College.

Here are her recommendations: Plant a yellow vegetable for vitamin A. Make it carrots or rutabagas and store some for winter use.

Take some from the greens. Broccoli is a good one, but others for supplies of iron and of vitamins A and C can include turnip greens, kale, Swiss chard, or—that's it—spinach.

Tomatoes ought to have a place for their supplies of vitamin C. Potatoes hardly need to be mentioned, says Miss Hershey, because they seem to obtain row sprouts automatically.

Another vitamin C provider is in the cabbage.

A gardener ought to remember onions for flavor.

For variety there are such crops as beets, parsnips and turnips.

Two in class for fresh and canned consumption are string beans and asparagus.

That is the list of eight types offered by Miss Hershey. The extra that can supply starch and other elements in the diet include corn, peas and lima beans. These, again, offer produce direct from the garden and also produce that can be canned for winter consumption.

NORMAL COLLEGE PRESENTS CONCERT SUNDAY, MAY 4

The Normal College Symphony Orchestra gives its seventh concert of the Tenth Annual Sunday Afternoon Concert Season on May 4. The concert will begin promptly at 4:15 p. m. in Pease Auditorium, Ypsilanti. Music lovers of Ypsilanti and adjacent communities are urged to attend this program of fine music to which there is no admission charge.

Miss Joyce Cardew, prominent young pianist, will be the soloist. Miss Cardew has appeared on many programs in Detroit and Royal Oak, which is her home. She will be heard on the May 4 concert playing the Mendelssohn Concerto in G Minor for Piano and Orchestra. Miss Cardew is a pupil of Mischa Kottler, one of Detroit's leading pianists.

The orchestra, composed of seventy-five student musicians and directed by Marius Fossenkemper, will open the program with the overture, "L'italiana in Algeri" by Rossini. Other numbers on the program will be "Akerienne Suite" by Saint-Saens, "Espagnole" or "Child's Play" by Carl Stix, "Pavane" by Morton Gould, and the Johann Strauss waltz, "Tales from Vienna Woods."

Maps of Copper Mines Are Made Available

Four additional detailed maps of the copper country, prepared by the U. S. Geological Survey from airplane photographs, are now available from the state conservation department's geological survey. Known as "planimetric" maps, they show lakes, streams, roads, trails, woods and clearings, but not elevations or contours. They cover the Ahmeek, Mohawk, Gay and Phoenix quadrangles in Keweenaw and Houghton counties and supplement maps of adjoining sections of this region published earlier.

TUBERCULOSIS STAMPS OF 1921 DRAW COLLECTORS

The prodigious stamps which caused the Michigan Tuberculosis Association's books to check up one dollar short in the 1921 Christmas sale, may yet make upends for their 19 years of idleness. In the past week they have succeeded in drawing bids from stamp collectors all over the state.

They returned to the Michigan Tuberculosis Association, a bid slightly less than—modern Rip Van Winkles. The coolness of their reception wasn't altered by the fact that it cost the state association an extra penny to get them, postage rates having gone up since the quotation enclosed a two cent stamped envelope in Nov. 1921.

The stamps found the Michigan Tuberculosis Association offices in a new building, with most of the personnel changed. However, the oldest stamp remembered being sent out in 1921 by a young fellow named Theodore J. Werle who was in here from Wisconsin to run the Christmas seal sale for that year.

Funny to find him Executive Secretary now! But the stamp's musing was interrupted by a long distance call—another bid for the 100 seals. What an amazing number of stamp collectors there are!

Mr. Werle states that no decision about the sale of these stamps has been reached but that all requests are being filed in the order received. "I bet we'll bring a dollar apiece yet," croaked the oldest stamp, smoothing down his corners proudly.

Rains Keep Forest Fire Losses to Minimum

While 11 eastern states battled forest fires sweeping tens of thousands of acres and destroying hundreds of buildings, timely rains helped Michigan through the week almost unscathed.

Conservation department fire fighters held the loss for the week in the entire state to four acres, though in the past week 77 fires burned over 1,287 acres.

Despite rains, conservation department officials regard the situation as hazardous until dry vegetation is supplanted by new green growth. They are enlisting cooperation in fire prevention by trout fishermen entering the north country in large numbers for the first time this season.

New Man-Made Lake Begins to Fill

Twelve-mile-long Lake Way, first of a chain of four artificial lakes resulting from power developments in Michigan's river, has begun to fill with water with the closing of the gates in Way dam, 35 miles north of Iron Mountain. The five-year development program has been planned in cooperation with conservation authorities with an eye to making the region attractive to fishermen, hunters and tourists as well as to provide electric power.

Now comes the time of the year when the baseball stars of the Orange and Grapefruit Leagues have to prove they're no lemons.
