PIKE FISHING SEASON OPENS ON MAY 15

Trou's near-monopoly on sport fishermen's attention ends Thursday May 15 as anglers bait their lines and array their plugs for fishing in the state's 200 designated waters which have been closed eight to 10 weeks to allow for spawning.

Still projected are black bass, bluegill and sunfish in pike lakes and trout lakes, and the fish in all other inland lakes until June 15, when the "bass and bluegill season" begins.

Sucker runs in non-trout streams are tapering off and perch fishing is good at Great Lakes piers and rivers in Grand Traverse bay, Saginaw bay and Big Bay de Noc regions. The good trout fishing with which the season started is holding up well over most of the state, according to conservation officers' reports. While worms are still the popular bait, fly fishing is increasing as fly batches have begun, stream levels improve and streams become clearer.

SOLDIERS AT FORT CUSTER HAVE WIDE READING RANGE

Fort Custer's soldiers making known a wide range of reading tastes to Mrs. Marjorie Gallagher librarian at the Service Club, and the Government is going to buy 5,000 new books to help meet this demand.

Mrs. Gallagher said that an order for 5,000 new books was forwarded to the Sixth Corps Area librarian this week and that delivery may be expected within two weeks.

Approximately two thirds of the new books which have been ordered are fiction, Mrs. Gallagher said. The other titles include subjects as travel, history, science and technical matters.

"A great many of the men," Mrs. Gallagher said, "are expressing a desire for textbooks which deal either with some trade subject or their education."

There are 3,000 volumes in the library now and all but 500 of these are fiction, Mrs. Gallagher said. The books are loaned to men for periods of two weeks with the privilege of renewal and many men already are taking advantage of this service. Other men, she said, prefer to draw the books and read them at the Service Club.
