

Radio 'Hams' on Alert for Spies

Amateur Operators Ready To Block Espionage in Case of War.

WEST HARTFORD, CONN.—The possibility that foreign agents, in event of war, might make use of short-wave radio to transmit information by disguising themselves as "hams" has been dissipated, according to informed opinion received here.

The Workers' Conference of the Baptist Sunday School met at the church hall on Tuesday evening.

TWO RED CROSS BADGES OF MERIT AWARDED THURSDAY

Two badges of merit awarded by the Red Cross for length of service were presented on Thursday afternoon at the work rooms in the High School.

Mrs. Myron Carrier, of the Legion Auxiliary, received one pin, for a record of more than thirty seven hours spent in Red Cross work.

The second pin went to Mrs. W. G. Adams, who has worked for over one hundred hours at Red Cross knitting alone. Mrs. Adams also sews in the work rooms.

OPERA STAR HAS COLORFUL CAREER

Selling Gold bricks to Frederick Jagel is not a flourishing occupation. Mr. Jagel is the American tenor of the Metropolitan Opera, who is singing at Masonic Auditorium on Monday evening, November 17, with the newly formed Metropolitan Opera Quartet. As such, you'd think he would be fair bait for any shimmering scheme that a good con man could think up. For isn't it true that all opera singers are children in the jungle of business, and the answer to any honest burglar's prayer?

Not in this case. For Fred started out as an actuary of the Mutual Life Insurance Company. He didn't dislike the job, either, as long as he couldn't afford to sing for a living. And he wasn't bad at it either, according to those of his colleagues who are still there and remember him.

As an actuary, charting other careers, young Mr. Jagel began to think of his own career. He was business man enough to toss his insurance out of the window, find a backer, and begin to study. His first job outside of the insurance business was to sing in movie houses up and down Broadway, proving to all and sundry that he had a voice.

He studied in New York and in Europe and while pursuing the devious trail of song across the Atlantic, his subsidy from home ran out. So Fred was business man enough to sing for his living, here and there and everywhere. To be sure, the going was scratchy enough at times, and Fred didn't eat a great deal or too often . . . but he was young, and he fell in love, and he had a voice.

And so the way didn't seem so hard, after all. And he was brave enough to refuse a first offer from Giulio Gatti-Casza, general manager of the Metropolitan, because he didn't think he was quite ready for New York.

"And when you think of the brash young singers who jump at the stage of the Metropolitan after two or three years' experience," says Fred, "I should have taken that first offer. But I'm glad I waited."

For he accepted the second offer, has made a substantial and growing success, married the girl of his choice, and now lives in Pelham, N.Y. with his wife, two children, three dogs . . . and a garden. And he's still a good business man.

"You see," says Fred, "I had a good business training early. Every artist needs one. Of course, we all fall once. My 'once' cost me $1,500. So now I'm doubly wary."

Rest assured that He in whom dwelleth all life, health, and holiness, will supply all your needs according to His riches in glory.

APPLE TURNOVER IS TEMPTING DESSERT

Apple-Pumpkin Pie, an Old English Custom

Way back in 16th century England, when the new-crop apples were appearing in the market places, the "house" wives had a special treat that they cooked up in the form of an apple-pumpkin pie. Today, in Michigan, this century-old recipe finds its way to modern tables in its original form:

2 cups peeled, thinly sliced apples
2 cups peeled, thinly sliced pumpkin
3/4 cups sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon ginger
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon orange flavoring or 2 teaspoons grated orange rind
Line a 9-inch pie plate with pastry and fill with apple and pumpkin slices; sprinkle with sugar, spices and salt. Add favoring of grated orange rind. Moisten edge of crust, cover with top crust and press edges together; brush crust with milk or cream. Bake 350 degrees F. for ten minutes; then 350 degrees F. for 50 minutes. Recipe tested by Dorothy W. Lewis, home economist, Michigan State Apple Commission.

SECOND AUXILIARY CARD PARTY HELD SATURDAY EVENING

The second Legion Auxiliary card party of the season was given at the Legion Home on Saturday, November the eighth, and was managed by Mrs. Joseph De-Vriendt and Mrs. Homer Eisenlord. Door prizes were won by Mr. H. A. Schroeder, Fred Schaeper, Mrs. J. P. Fife, and Mrs. Lillian Fisher.

The next Auxiliary card party will be held on November 23, and will be in charge of Mrs. W. C. Carpenter and Mrs. Charles Muehr.

Oakland County P.T.A. Council Meets Friday

College Orchestra To Present Concert

The Normal College Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of conductor, will present the second concert of its eleventh season of concerts on Sunday afternoon, November 16, at exactly 4:15 p. m. in Pease Auditorium, Ypsilanti. Admission to the orchestra's concert is complimentary, and the public is cordially invited to attend.

The soloists will be Lare Wardrop, oboist, and Henry Siegl, violinist. Mr. Wardrop was born in Brussels, Belgium. He now occupies the English horn chair of the Detroit Symphony and the Ford Symphony Orchestra. Mr. Siegl is a native of Detroit and a graduate of the Curtis Institute in Philadelphia. In 1935 he became one of the first violinists of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra.

The program for the concert includes the Bach Concerto for Oboe, Violin and String Orchestra; a suite, "Streets of Peking" by Hadley; the overture, "Fidelio" by Beethoven; a Koutak waltz, "Gris of Baden"; and the Dvorak Slavonic Dances, No. 1 and 2. This year's orchestra numbers sixty players and has already distinguished itself as a worthy successor to the many fine orchestras the campus has been proud of in former years. Set aside Sunday afternoon for an hour of very pleasant cultural diversion as a guest of the Music Department of Michigan State Normal College.

BIG FORD NEWS

for America...and for Americans.

BIG BOMBERS

To build the huge Consolidated B-24, so greatly needed for America's defense, the Ford Willow Run Bomber Plant is being constructed in remarkably fast time. Including an airport, this giant plant will cover 975 acres, with a floor area of 3,700,000 square feet. From it will come completed bombers and sub-assemblies in unprecedented numbers!

BIG TANKS

Latest challenge to Ford mass production methods is America's urgent need for monster 30 and 60-ton tanks. Recent announcement that Ford is to handle the nation's biggest order for these giant tanks is evidence of faith in the ability of the Ford Motor Company to do the job both fast and well.

BIG ENGINES

Big and mighty are the 2000 horsepower Pratt and Whitney engines rolling off the assembly line at the new Ford Airplane Engine Plant at Dearborn, Michigan. The Ford Motor Company is rushing its huge airplane engine plant to completion and into full production. Its production now will play a most important part in America's defense efforts.
