THERE'S A

IN VICTORY!

This war is being fought with resources as well as with men. Every pound of vital materials that can be conserved for weapons and munitions is another step on the road to Victory.

About the time the war began in Europe, Bell System engineers were starting to use the "K" carrier system—a new telephone development which now is saving large quantities of copper for use in implements of war.

In operation, the "K" carrier system enables two pairs of wires in parallel cables to carry as many as twelve separate conversations at the same time!

"K" carrier is helping Michigan Bell handle more Long Distance calls with fewer wires—making an important saving in copper.

Even with the help of research and invention, increasing shortages of materials make it difficult to satisfy service demands as promptly as in the past. But we are confidently determined that every war need will be met.
