

AT THE REDFORD THEATER

Appearing at the Redford Theatre, beginning Sunday, and running through Thursday next week, is the current musical, "Babes on Broadway" starring Mickey Rooney and Judy Garland. The film is packed with gay music and dance routines with a fine supporting cast. The companion picture on those days is the fast-moving "Forced Landing," bringing a story of adventure and mystery in the air.

ship. OPA limited the prices of vacuum cleaners, mechanical refrigerators, radios, phonographs, washing and ironing machines, stoves and ranges, and typewriters. Most stores were warned that they must keep their charges in line now that there is a wholesale ceiling on pork.

OPA temporarily froze prices of newsprint. At the same time, however, higher costs of transporting petroleum in tank cars instead of tank ships was recognized by allowing a 14-cent boost on the Eastern seaboard, and a rise was permitted in prices of Pennsylvania grade crude oils to make possible a larger output for military demands.

Other price actions concerned wool products from the "pulled" state through worsted yarns, specially combed yarns of extra-long fiber, cotton; second-hand cloth; antimony; coal; meat scrap; hide bugs; print cloth bed linens; domestic short wool; remodeled tires; blue and hide glue stock.

New Typewriters For Rationing OPA announced that more than 10,000 new typewriters would be available for rationing April 12, though the non-war user hasn't much chance of getting one. Some recaptured U-2s were allotted to passenger cars for the first time in the April quotas. WPA cut tea deliveries in half to spin out stocks in case returning munitions ships should be prevented from cutting across Pacific fighting zones with new imports; and restricted the use of honey in manufactured products. Refrigerator dealers were notified they may sell at retail their entire stocks.

WPA Chairman Nelson told a House committee it would suspend production to stop payment of time and a half for individual work over 40 hours a week; he said he favored putting an end to double payment for Saturday, Sunday and holiday work but would not favor legislation unless other ways failed. Presidents of the CIO and AFL thereupon pledged their unions to abandonment of the double-time arrangement. Congress delayed action on a bill designed to enforce both objectives.

Albert Carl Kalschmidt is a name better known in World War I than today. Kalschmidt was the leader of a gang of traitors, members of the Deutschnbund in Detroit, who plotted to destroy Michigan-manufactured goods. Others in this conspiracy were Walter Scholz, Charles Francis Respa and his brother-in-law Carl Schmidt.

They decided to blow up the Detroit Screw Works. This plan was changed because Kalschmidt decided that the place was too well guarded, and the Peabody Overall Company factory in Walkerville across the border in Canada was selected instead.

Another target was the Windsor Armoury which housed many Canadian soldiers.

The factory bomb exploded, but luckily for the Canadian soldiers the one at the armoury did not.

Kalschmidt and his gang of saboteurs were finally arrested, and sentenced to serve terms in prison. While enemy bombing raids by airplanes are expected to be made against Michigan military centers, such as St. Mary's river locks at Sault Ste. Marie, the Willow Run bomber plant near Ypsilanti and the Chrysler tank plant in Macomb, a greater danger lurks in the possibility of disastrous sabotage being committed by a handful of enemy agents. Most of them would be immigrants or American-born citizens, Quislings to the cause of the United Nations.

When can we expect such sabotage? Will it occur in the factory at the assembly line?

Here is one guess, and we cannot quote our authority: It will happen when the finished product—the tank, airplane motor, or other material—is ready for shipment. Fire is the chief weapon of the Saboteur. It could destroy a million feet of valuable timber in northern Michigan or thousands of bushels of valuable grain in elevators in country towns.

There will be other Kalschmidts in this war. Michigan must be alert to the peril of these American Quislings who would misuse American freedom in order to destroy it.

F. D. R. SENDS VICTORY MESSAGE TO A. E. F. TROOPS

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

TO MEMBERS OF THE UNITED STATES ARMY EXPEDITIONARY FORCES:

You are a soldier of the United States Army.

You have embarked for distant places where the war is being fought.

Upon the outcome depends the freedom of your lives; the freedom of the lives of those you love—your fellow-citizens—your people.

Never were the enemies of freedom more tyrannical; more arrogant, more brutal.

Yours is a God-fearing, proud, courageous people, which, throughout its history, has put its freedom under God before all other purposes.

We who stay at home have our duties to perform—duties owed in many parts to you. You will be supported by the whole force and power of this Nation. The victory you win will be a victory of all the people—common to them all.

You bear with you the hope, the confidence, the gratitude and the prayers of your family, your fellow-citizens, and your President—

Franklin D. Roosevelt

Copy of letter distributed to every member of the U. S. Army Expeditionary Force in Northern Ireland praising them for their courageous duty in their fight for Freedom. "You will be supported by the whole force and power of this nation" said the President's message, text of which is shown.

COVER CROPS HELP MIDWEST WIN WAR ON SOIL EROSION

CHICAGO.—Cover crops as a weapon for winning the battle of soil erosion are being used at a rate that has increased the area planted to legumes by 9,700,000 acres in seven midwestern states in the past 20 years, according to a statement made public here by the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee. "Farmers know that in legumes they have crops that will deposit nitrogen in the soil and add to its supply of organic matter. They are coming to realize, however, that legumes must be reinforced by intelligent soil management such as the use of fertilizers high in phosphorus and potash.

"Legumes require a good diet of phosphorus and potash. If this diet is not provided by fertilization, the legume crops may use up the soil's supply of these two plant foods."

Knowledge of Plant Foods Is Aid in Rebuilding Soil

CHEMICAL terms such as nitrogen, phosphorus and potash seem a bit difficult to understand, don't they?

But as a matter of fact, they are no harder to grasp than many other new terms which we of this generation who live in or near farms have had to learn. And once we learn what job each of the three major plant foods performs, then we shall be able to share successfully total growing crops for plant food hunger signs and rebuild soil fertility.

What are these jobs? Nitrogen encourages growth, helps roots and develops the fleshy portion of roots and fruits. Phosphorus hastens the ripening of seed and favors early maturity. Potash is the balance wheel, enabling the crop to make better use of the other plant foods. It likewise develops resistance to disease and improves quality.

WHY SOME TELEPHONE INSTALLATIONS MUST BE LIMITED

If you find that certain telephone requests can no longer be met, the blame lies with the enemies of our country.

To win this war, we must conserve every possible pound of vital materials.

Critical shortages have caused the War Production Board to issue an order strictly limiting the use of those scarce materials by the telephone companies in expanding telephone service.

The War Production Board estimates that this conservation program will save annually about 35,500 tons of lead, 29,000 tons of iron and steel, 29,500 tons of copper, and large amounts of zinc, crude rubber, magnesium and other strategic materials.

HOW THE ORDER MAY AFFECT YOU

1. PARTY LINES, only, can be installed in many cases.
2. EXTENSION TELEPHONES cannot be installed in residences except where needed by those responsible for public health, welfare or security.
3. TELEPHONES of wall or desk (upright) type cannot be changed to hand sets.
4. MANUAL TELEPHONE SWITCHBOARDS may not be changed to dial except where the work is well advanced.

The steps taken do not mean that the basic quality of your telephone service will be curtailed. They simply remove some of the de luxe trimmings. We shall continue to provide the best service possible, and we look forward to the day when we can meet all requests as in the past. Now, and for the duration, war needs come first.
