AT THE REDFORD THEATER

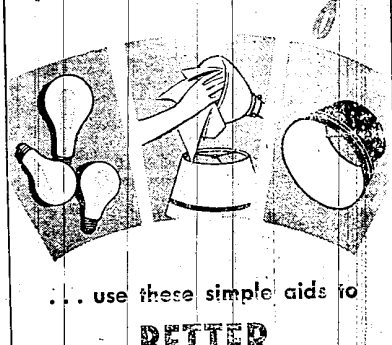
Coming to the Redford Theatre today, Van Heflin and Marsha Hunt on Friday, Saturday, Sunday and Monday is the thrilling picture "Flight Lieutenant" with Pat O'Brien, Glenn Ford and Evelyn Keys. Here is tops in screen entertainment and brilliant acting. The second picture on the bill is the gay musical "Private Buckaroo" with Harry James and His Music Makers and the Andrews Sisters.

Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Van Heflin and Marsha Hunt in "Kid Glove Killer" and Preston Foster and Lynn Bari in "Secret Agent of Japan" form the double bill attraction.

A Message Board

Busy families which receive numerous telephone calls, should keep a bulletin board for messages. A piece of fiberboard which is suitable for thumb-tacking is a good suggestion.

SAVE electricity



. . . use these simple aids to

BETTER HOME LIGHTING

Enjoy better lighting in your home and save money doing it! It's easy if you follow the three suggestions listed here:

FIRST—Get as much as 25 per cent more light by keeping your lamps and fixtures clean. Dust and dirt rob you of the light you pay for. Dust collects on bulbs and inside reflector bowls, cutting down their efficiency and wasting electricity . . . exactly as if you were buying electricity for four lamps and only getting light from three. Wipe all lamp bulbs frequently — also reflector bowls and ceiling fixtures. Dust your lamp shades inside and out. Remember that dust collects insidiously, day by day — stealing light before you realize it.

SECOND — Dark colored lamp shades soak up light like a thirsty sponge absorbing water. A light colored shade is far more efficient because it reflects more light into the room where it can do some good. If you have a dark shade and want to increase its usefulness, try lining it with a white lining. The difference in the amount of light reflected will surprise you!

THIRD—Use the right size bulbs in your lamps and fixtures. Too large a bulb can result in just as poor lighting as too small a bulb. Squeezing a big bulb into a small lamp causes glare and harsh shadows. Using a small bulb in a large lamp gives inadequate light. Choose the right size lamp bulb for the right socket.

"TRAILER AGABOND"

By WARREN BAYLEY

CLAREMORE, OKLAHOMA
WILL ROGERS MEMORIAL

In 1911, Will Rogers went home to Claremore and while standing on a hill overlooking the city remarked, "I've just bought this 20 acres so I'll be coming back here some day when I'm old and the world is tired of my act and I'll build a home on this hill and just sit here and whittle and gab with my friends until the Big Boss stages the last roundup and us strays head for the home corral." That roundup was staged on August 15, 1935, near Point Barrow, Alaska and today there stands, instead of a home as Will had planned, Oklahoma's Memorial to Will Rogers, the "Will Rogers Memorial Museum."

No sooner had the news of the tragic death of the great humorist been spread to the world than friends and admirers began plans to perpetuate his memory with a suitable memorial.

In 1937 the Oklahoma State Legislature appropriated $200,000 for the purpose. Mrs. Rogers donated the 20 acres Will had planned to use for his home and actual construction began in April, 1938. Dedication ceremonies were held on November 4, 1938 on the anniversary of his birth.

The Memorial stands on top of the hill overlooking a beautiful valley and the home town to which he was so loyal. It is of ranch house design probably very much like the "home" Will might have built himself. More spacious, of course and more formal, yet it symbolizes the type of structure and the rough simplicity that characterizes Will Rogers and his belonging.

It consists of four principal galleries and a library planned around a central foyer. All four galleries are devoted to Indian, Pioneer, Historical and Educational collections of keepsakes and mementos. Here you will see and read many original telegrams and letters Will sent to his friends. They all sparkle with wit and are written just as he talked.

Among other exhibits is his portable typewriter which was with him when the plane crashed. Its frame is badly twisted and its type jumbled, giving one some idea of the force of the fall.

The library is devoted to books of the Indian territory, early Oklahoma and American Indians and is used for educational and research purposes. Rogers was a 9/32nd Cherokee.

In the central foyer stands a bronze statue of the humorist—a duplicate of the one which stands in the Hall of Fame in Washington, D.C. On its base is a simple inscription in Rogers' own words—"I never met a man I didn't like."

Claremore is also well known because of its radium water. Will was especially proud of its health-building properties. In writing to a friend about the water, he said, "William Jennings Bryan drank one drink of this water and turned against liquor. Senator LaFollette drank two drinks of it and turned against everything. So remember Claremore, the Carlsbad of America, where the Frisco crosses the Missouri Pacific Railroad, not often, but every few days."

EVE CURIE SPEAKS WEDNESDAY AT TOWN HALL

Mlle. Eve Curie, distinguished daughter of the greatest woman scientist of all time will speak at Detroit Town Hall at the Fisher theatre, Wednesday morning, October 21.

Famous for the brilliantly written biography of her mother, Madame Curie, discoverer of radium, Mlle. Curie has become since the Fall of France, a noted war correspondent, and recently returned from a trip around the world visiting combat zones in Europe and the Far East. In her lecture at Town Hall, Mlle. Curie will report on international developments as she observed them first hand.

Because of her championship of the Free French, the Vichy government deprived Mlle. Curie of her French citizenship. The Nazis followed by forbidding the sale of her popular biography in all the German occupied territories of Europe. Barred from France, the author went to work in London at the side of the Allies, broadcasting to the French people what she saw in England, encouraging them to hope for an Allied victory which would liberate their land.

Her great biography "Madame Curie" has the unusual distinction of being the selection of all the leading book clubs, Book of the Month, Literary Guild, Junior Guild, and Scientific Book of the Month club.

Excellent Record

Only 40 of the more than 40,000,000 mail bags handled in England last year were stolen.
