THE BLUE AND WHITE

— EDITORIAL —

It has been hinted in reports from Switzerland that both Germany and Italy may execute American aviators shot down—following the lead of the Japs.

The Italian newspaper, Tervere, was quoted as saying the "example set by Japan should be followed when enemy airmen are captured after raids in which explosive pencils are dropped."

The Berlin report to Der Bund declared that "bombing of residential areas is barbarism and the Japanese judgment was proper punishment."

After the bombings of Coventry and London! All of Britain's cathedrals and churches in ruins—they must have been military targets. It seems that anything the Axis bombs is a military object; but, when the Allies bomb, it is the residential districts.

The best thing that can be done in return is to fight that much harder or buy more and more bonds and stamps.

'TIS SAID . . .

The old wireless set has been clicking overtime this weekend. It is pretty bad when a car full of Farmington boys and another car full of girls wolf at each other. I'll bet there really was some laughing when they found out who was who.

Why, Mr. Dunckel, my eagle ears have heard that you went trout fishing this weekend and didn't catch a thing. Too bad.

I wonder if anyone else was fooled by the fire Saturday night? It is pretty disappointed to go for miles only to see a little tree burning. That ought to teach us.

Of all the familiar faces seen in Detroit Monday! It looks as if Farmington had been evacuted to Detroit. I know they all had fun.

The decorations for the Senior Prom are certainly going ahead. From all reports it is really going to be smooth.

It seems that Davy Sullivan has been getting some anonymous letters. Have they got you worried, Dave? —Ima Surchin

Who Has The Money For 2nd War Loan?

"Where is all the money coming from to meet the 13 billion dollars of the Second War Loan goal?" is a question heard on many sides. It will come out of the 45-billion dollar surplus earnings of 1943, according to statistics reported by Treasury experts.

During 1941 personal savings of individuals amounted to 9 billion dollars. During 1943 this surplus or prospective savings will increase by 36 billion dollars over 1941 when consumer goods were easy to get.

Now that prices are high, thrifty people will make their goods last longer and place more money in War Bonds.

F.H.S. WINS KEEGO HARBOR BASEBALL TILT

Farmington's baseball team inaugurated the 1943 season by defeating Keego Harbor 13-9. The game was played in the dragging time of 3½ hours.

Farmington bats pounded out 18 hits to Keego's 9.

Coach Stroebel feels his team is weak defensively in all departments. This can be accounted for by the fact bad weather has kept the team indoors with only batting practice. He feels, however, the team can pull out of it and prove to be tough opponents.

Underclassmen accounted for 11 of the F.H.S. hits and 6 of the runs.

Dick Pauline, pitcher, kept the paths warm by banging out 2 hits and stealing 5 bases.

Tankers Carried Oil

Before Pearl Harbor, the 17 eastern states and the District of Columbia were dependent on sea transport for more than 95 per cent of their oil —more than 1,400,000 barrels per day. When war came, many tankers were diverted to military uses. Many more were sunk by enemy submarines. There are now virtually no tankers engaged in commercial service along the Atlantic coast.

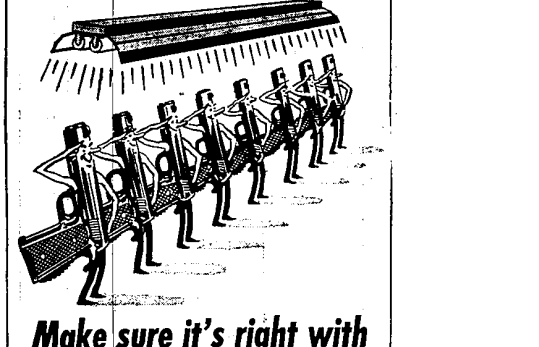
FINAL INSPECTION:


Make sure it's right with good light
INSPECTION has always been an important step in production. But in war work—where a soldier's life may depend on the accuracy of machined parts and the absence of flaws in a gun or shell or tank or engine part—inspection is doubly important. Final inspection must make sure that the product is RIGHT—and that no defective parts or workmanship are allowed to go out of the plant.
The more precise the work, the more critical the inspection—and the greater the need for GOOD LIGHT to help detect imperfections. Besides finding "rejects" when the work is finished, inspection helps to prevent losses by catching flaws early, as the work goes along. Periodic inspection saves wasted man-hours and reduces spoilage.
Good light for inspection is "tailored" to the needs of the specific job. What is satisfactory lighting for one job may be wholly inadequate for another. For example, inspection may involve the internal structure of a piece, or its composition. It may involve surface contour, or color and finish. In each case there is a particular kind of lighting to assure best results. Our industrial Lighting Advisors will be glad to discuss any lighting problem you may have, and study your requirements. They will then submit recommendations without charge. Call any Detroit Edison office. The Detroit Edison Company.
