Operate Own Power Plants

Twenty-two cities of all those over 200 population operate their own power plants, charging average rates of $3.02 for 100 kw, compared with $3.89 charged by private plants. Of the publicly owned plants, only Jacksonville, Fla., charges a higher rate—$4.00 for 100 kw than the average charged by the 100 privately owned companies.

The Noble City of Mayence which the Glorious God has designated to prefer and render famous more than other peoples of the world through the ingenious art and voluntary gift of printing, the distinguished work of the Sixth of the Decretals has not by link from feathered and metal pen or reed, but by a certain very beautiful invention, been successfully completed by the venerable Peter Schoeffer or Gernsheim in the year of our Lord 1478, on the 5th day of the month of January."

The Latin Colophon, or publisher's note, at the end of the book, is an interesting commentary on the work. It reads:

On the Noble City of Mayence which the Glorious God has designated to prefer and render famous more than other peoples of the world through the ingenious art and voluntary gift of printing, the distinguished work of the Sixth of the Decretals has not by link from feathered and metal pen or reed, but by a certain very beautiful invention, been successfully completed by the venerable Peter Schoeffer or Gernsheim in the year of our Lord 1478, on the 5th day of the month of January."

Good Spacing in Brooder

Helps Reduce Chick Toll

Raising the chicks after getting them from the hatchery is the main problem for amateur poultrymen. Proper spacing in the brooder house and disease prevention are the main elements in bringing them successfully into production.

Crowding opens the gate to diseases which pick off chickens that otherwise would become needed producers. The right capacity for a brooder house having 100 square feet, for example, is 200 chicks.

Fowl pox, or sorehead, and coccidiosis, levy a heavy toll on eggs and chickens. Beginners, or those who have experienced outbreaks on their farms, should make vaccination of flocks for fowl pox a "must" this season, especially the pullets after the cockerels have been sold.

Vaccination, which costs approximately one-half cent a pullet, is the safest chicken insurance.

Sanitation is the best preventive of coccidiosis—clean feeders and waterers, and clean, dry litter, with emphasis on dry. Coccidia need moisture to develop. Stirring the litter, moving the feeders and water fountains to new locations in the brooder daily will keep it down.

Feeding of sulphur in the mash, along with good sanitation, also has proved successful as a preventive. The recommendation is to add 2½ oz. of dusting sulphur, or unconditioned 325 mesh sulphur in 100 pounds of feed. Chicks must be at least three weeks old and running in the sunlight before sulphur is fed, and it batteries.
