when you use electricity!

Electricity is not rationed. But each time you turn on an electric light in your home. each time you plug in an electric appliance, you are using vital war materials. Electricity requires coal for its manufacture. Thousands of tons are burned every day in large Detroit Edison power plants—coal that is brought in by boat and by rail. Besides coal, large quantities of other materials are also needed—oil. for example. All of these represent precious manhours of labor.

There is no shortage of electricity in this area. But a saving of electricity means a saving of coal....and saving coal means releasing more transportation facilities for the job of carrying guns and oil and other war materials to our armed forces. Careful, reasonable use of electricity is a patriotic duty now-in store, office and home. Use what you need - but don't waste it. The Detroit Edison Company.
