Tungsten Resources

Next to antimony, tungsten occupies a position of great importance in the mining industry of China. Estimation shows that the tungsten reserves of China amount to about five times the reserves of the rest of the world. Starting before the last World war with a production of tungsten amounting to 0.1 per cent of the world's total, China had climbed to 85 per cent during 1926-28, but came down to about 40 per cent during 1934-37, the average production during 1913-17 being 37 per cent of the world production.

Make Towels Last

To make towels last, soak-up, creams, lotions and medicine may stain fabrics, so use towels for dry cleaning purposes only. When something spills on the floor, don't use a towel to wipe it up. Don't shine shoes on towels and don't use them to dry razor blades. If a loop is pulled, don't pull at the surface and do not pull the thread. Mend selvages or other worn places.

Moderate Temperatures

Cook meats at moderate temperatures. You'll find they will shrink less, and, therefore, go further. The flavor will be better, too.

Lost Popularity

The entire Mediterranean, the Red Sea, the Black sea, and all the great cities of these three seas had had Italian as their "lingua franca" of culture and of commerce down to the middle of 1800, according to Carlo Sfora. What stupefied and alarmed people in Italy was that immediately after the political unification which ought to have afforded additional strength to Italian influence, the Italian language began to lose ground in Turkey, Greece, Rumania, Egypt - where French superseded it, despite France's defeat in 1870.

There were reasons for this fact, Sfora said. The construction of oriental railway lines that connected the Levant with Vienna and Paris, and thereby made the water route via Brindisi and Naples a longer distance to travel; the Austrian empire's sudden distrust of the language of a great new independent nation, whereas formerly Italian had been the official language of the Austrian bureaucracy throughout the Levant even in the documents of the imperial and royal embassy at Constantinople; the Pacific invasion of the Levant by French Catholic monastic orders, which had begun to live from the lay atmosphere of the republic.

New Jersey Leading Chemical Center in U. S.

New Jersey leads the nation in the production of chemicals, according to statistics made public by the American Chemical Society. In a single year, New Jersey chemical industries manufacture some $200,000,000 worth of chemicals, about 20 per cent of all those made in the United States.

"New Jersey is the most important factor in drug grinding in the world and through its ports and factories are funneled most of the essential rare and common drugs for medicinal products," it was stated.

Roughly New Jersey has 15 per cent of all chemical manufacturing establishments in the United States. The New Jersey industry has 25 per cent of the salaried employees in the chemical group, and 20.5 per cent of the wage earners. It pays out over $11,000,000 in salaries equal to 85.5 per cent of the total and over $24,000,000 of wages, roughly equal to 20 per cent of the total.

Heat Exhaustion

A person suffering from heat exhaustion should be removed to a circulating air and placed in a living position. Keep the person warm and administer stimulants. Give him salt water to drink—one teaspoon to a pint, given as small drinks at frequent intervals. Call a physician if patient is not soon relieved.
