Service Notes

Calvin Hopkins is still in the hospital, and writes that he has had a relapse and is uncertain as to when he will be released. He has been confined to the hospital since the first of February. Calvin is serving in the European theatre.

The eyes of the fighting units now pounding at Germany's west wall are given a final inspection for combat chores by a group of trained inspectors and repairmen working in the supply division of the largest ordnance depot in the United Kingdom. Intricate fire control instruments used for observation and to insure accuracy of artillery and antiaircraft fire are checked and repaired by these ordnance technicians in a completely-equipped instrument shop at a depot in England. From the shop the instruments are delivered to warehouses for issuance to field artillery troops. Among the technicians is Corporal Edward K. Steele, 23, of 18040 San Juan Drive. He is an inspector and before the war was employed as a mechanical engineer for the F. H. Steele Company. His father, Mr. F. H. Steele, lives at the San Juan address.

First Lieutenant Marshal J. McKelvey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Park H. McKelvey, of 20424 Fremont Street, Farmington, recently arrived at the Big Spring Bomber School, Texas, and has been assigned to duty. Commissioned at San Angelo, Texas, the lieutenant is a veteran of combat action in the European theatre. His wife's home is in Detroit.

Pfc James W. Lee has returned to his unit, after being wounded in Italy, and spending four months in the hospital. Pfc Lee has been awarded the purple heart.

T/4 William Carson, of 15505 Farmington Road, has been awarded the Bronze Star by Brigadier General Charles S. Kilburn, commanding general of the Division. The citation read in part, "For heroic conduct in connection with military operations against an armed enemy. On January 16, 1945, while T/4 Carson was serving as a medical aid man with an Engineer platoon, the platoon dismounted to gap an enemy minefield. When the mission had been accomplished, and as the platoon was returning to the vehicles, it came under heavy artillery and small arms fire which inflicted numerous casualties.

"Although momentarily stunned by an enemy shell burst, Carson quickly began to administer first aid to the wounded. Throughout the intensive shelling with disregard of personal safety, he moved among the men, comforting and reassuring them until they could be moved to safety.

"Shortly thereafter, a nearby infantry platoon became subjected to enemy fire. With complete devotion to duty, Carson moved to their position and immediately administered aid to the wounded. By his outstanding courage, and disregard of personal safety, he contributed to saving the lives of many wounded men."

Corporal William L. Houle, 21 year old engineer-gunner, of 4316 Westland, Dearborn, has been assigned to an AAF B-17 Flying Fortress unit of the 15th Air Force in Italy.
