V-E Day

Tuesday was a big day in Farmington. Just as it was a big day in hundreds of other cities all over these United States — and all over the world. For Tuesday was V-E Day.

We all had been looking forward to V-E Day for so long, and our hopes had been bolstered by frequent false reports, and by the prolonged confusion and seeming misunderstanding regarding the peace, that when it finally did arrive, we did not perhaps experience the full appreciation that peace had come to war-torn Europe. It called for a two-day holiday in England, but here it seemed to call only for a prayer of thankfulness, and a determination to keep on the job, putting forth only our very best effort, until it is a day of world-wide peace. That is the day that America will be fully hit by the news of peace, for today still finds many, many boys carrying on a bitter struggle against the enemies of democracy.

We've all experienced a tremendous lift from V-E Day. It is a step accomplished — a very big step, and it brings us so much closer to the final goal. There was an extra spring in everyone's step Tuesday, for good news was ours, the day was bright and sunny, and our own American flag was waving in the breeze all about the city.

Another flag also waved in the breeze Tuesday afternoon—the Red Cross flag, for Tuesday was also Blood Bank Day. In the midst of elation, the people of Farmington did not forget the responsibility of keeping a constant supply of blood plasma available to the armed forces, for once again the Blood Bank obtained a full quota from this community.

Yes, indeed, Tuesday was a big day in Farmington, and one we shall not soon forget.

Stuck For News?

What keeps the folks at home from writing overseas as often as they should—and as often as they intend to—is that they can't think of anything to write. Even those who are used to writing, in a more or less professional vein, hesitate to face a blank sheet of paper, feeling that there is nothing to say.

It might be wise, for your own benefit and the benefit of others, to prepare a list of questions as a guide in the creation of news for the boys at the front. Some of the items on such a list might seem very trivial, and almost nonsensical — but they may be just the very things the boys would like best to read.

Suggestions — where did I eat lunch today, what did I eat and how much did it cost? Whom did I see yesterday, at a distance, in passing, or to speak to, that he might know? What new jokes have I heard that might be repeated? What entertainment have I seen or heard on the radio? Whose birthday has come up lately? What newspaper clipping can I enclose? Who plays the best bridge game now?

Undoubtedly everyone will have a list of his own particularly suited to the correspondent in question.

What people at home need is to be reminded again and again and again what constitutes news. Anyone who has any connection with the dissemination of news knows that not until one begins asking questions does he get news from those who have it.

Vitamin B
 In their raw or original state most plant and animal foods contain some of the B vitamins, but only a few foods contain very much. Some foods are relatively rich in one B, some in another. For special mention there are lean pork, liver and kidney and other meat organs, whole grains, dried beans and peas, soybeans and nuts — particularly peanuts. Other foods that supply B vitamins include lean meats, eggs, milk, vegetables and fruits. Under the government's enrichment program synthetic riboflavin, thiamine, niacin and iron are added to bread.

Sausage Recipe
 A popular North Carolina recipe for sausage, based on 50 pounds of pork, is 1 pound of salt, 2½ ounces of finely ground black pepper, and 2 ounces of sage. Most people prefer about three-fourths lean meat and one-fourth fat. Another favorite recipe for 50 pounds of pork is 1 pound of salt, 1½ ounces of ground sage, 1½ ounces of black pepper, and 1½ ounces of red pepper.

Cabbage Omelet
 When the house reeks of cabbage the cause is usually overcooking or cooking at too high heat.

BITS OF THIS AND THAT

By ELMER T. POCKLINGTON

WHEN ROBINS SING
 There may be days of sunshine,
 But still it isn't Spring
 'Til early in the morning
 We hear a robin sing.
 And then we get the feeling
 That calls for good deeds;
 We polish up the armament
 That battles bugs and weeds.
 It's not the man-made calendar
 That makes us feel that Spring is here
 And Winter's left behind.
 Deep in the consciousness of man
 A sympathetic string
 Awaits to vibrate with the sounds
 That come with early Spring.
 Anemone and daffodil flowers
 And myriad other flowers
 Are awakened from their winter sleep
 By balmy days and showers.
 Though we may know of all these things—
 Though days are getting long,
 We never feel that Spring is here
 Without the robin's song.

The Golden Text (Romans 9:3) is: "They which are the children of the flesh, these are not the children of God."

Among the Bible citations is this passage (1 Cor. 15:22): "For as in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be made alive."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (9:47): "Christ, as the spiritual or true idea of God, comes now as of old, preaching the gospel to the poor, healing the sick, and casting out evils."

Young People Held Banquet

A young people's banquet held at the Methodist Church on Wednesday was attended by a large number of young people who enjoyed the program. The boys and girls basketball teams of the High School were guests of honor, both teams having won a number of victories during the basketball season, the boys securing two pennants.

The "J" Hop will be held in the Farmington High School Gym Friday night. Halls Saxophone Orchestra of Columbus, Ohio, will furnish the music for the evening.

The usual Grand Army exercises of decorating the cenotaph will be held, and then counter-march to the hall when the program will be given.

Schutte Conducts Arson Inquiry
 "Nothing to say" was the firm answer of Judge John J. Schulte of Farmington Thursday morning to all questions concerning a grand jury investigation he has been conducting during the past five months, but the fact remains that his office in Farmington has been the scene of what may prove to be a history-making episode in the history of criminal jurisprudence in Oakland County.

Seniors Will Graduate Wednesday

Beginning Sunday, May 26, and lasting through Friday, May 31, some fifty Seniors of the Farmington High School will spend the busiest six days of their high school careers. The program scheduled for them is as extensive as that of a visiting diplomat. These first six days of next week will make the hurrying and bustling that has already been done look insignificant in comparison.

Hi Nine Wins Championship

Living up to the pre-season prediction as to its potential ability, the Farmington High School baseball team defeated the Northville High nine 4-1 to win the league championship with a record of five games won and none lost.

Groups Plan Citizenship Day Program

Sunday, May 19, will be a big day in the lives of all twenty-one year-olds in Oakland County. On that day they will assemble in Pontiac to witness ceremonies in their honor and to learn from competent authorities just how important is the privilege of voting.

To Sell Poppies Here May 25

Poppies Day will be observed in Farmington on Friday and Saturday, May 21 and 25. Beatrice Carpenter, President of Groves-Walker unit of the American Legion Auxiliary, announced this week. On these days all Americans will be asked to wear memorial poppies in tribute to the World War dead, and to aid the living victims of the war.

the Brookings Institution, a research agency at Washington, D.C., compiled figures in 1939 showing the working capital of agriculture to be $75 billion dollars and of industry $3 billion.

Or that the National Resources Committee, for a later year (1935) arrived at pretty much the same relation?

All of this serves to emphasize as we see it, the progressive step taken by the Michigan State legislature in its 1945 session to put the state department of agriculture on a business-like basis as to continuity of policies. In the past ten years, prior to the election of Governor Harry F. Kelly, Michigan had five different commissioners.

No modern business could prosper with such a haphazard shift of administrators.

Supported by both the Michigan

State Farm Bureau, the Michigan San commission plan, as approved by the legislature and certain to be signed by the governor, would give policy-making power to a board of five men.

The commissioners, each serving a term of six years, are to be named by Governor Kelly. Two will serve two years, two for four years, and one for six years.

Succession terms would be all six years in length, thus providing for a long-range continuity of program and in effect removing the department almost entirely from shifts in Michigan politics.

Amendments by the legislature provide that one of the five commissioners must reside in the Upper Peninsula and that the present commissioner, Charles Figg, well-liked and highly efficient.

5 Reasons Why You Had Better SAVE This Dollar

This is a wartime dollar. It looks just the same as it did before the war. But it is not the same.

Here are 5 things it can not do:

1. It can't help you buy a new car now.
2. It can't help you buy a new radio now.
3. It can't help you build a new home now.
4. It can't buy the quantity it could before.
5. It can't buy the quality it will later.

But you can make this wartime dollar do these things later just by saving it. Plan your spending, plan your saving. Work it out in black and white, to assure better spending control, greater saving. Saving means helping to keep the dollar sound, to maintain its buying power. And saving means buying War Bonds regularly and putting money in the bank for emergencies.

PLAN YOUR SPENDING
PLAN YOUR SAVING
 Help the nation's efforts to keep your living costs down, the buying power of your dollar up.
