personnel at Love Field, Dallas and Kelly Field, Texas. His mother, Mrs. Tom S. Edwards, lives at the Oakland Road address, and his wife resides in Des Moines, Iowa. As a member of the Eleventh AF, Capt. Warner is part of the first Air Force to bomb the Japanese homeland in this war. After routine bombing of Japan in 1942, the Eleventh AF lent air support to the ground troops retaking that island, then pounded Kiska daily until the Japanese deserted the island and, with the Aleutians taken, crossed 1,000 miles of water to hit the Kuriles and become the first air raiders to hit the Japanese homeland since General Doolittle's famous Tokyo raid in 1942. First attempted as daring reconnaissance missions, these reconnaissance missions, their reconnaissance and Shimushu bombings, are now routine.

Cpl. Harold W. Orwin has been promoted from the rank of Private First Class to Corporal. He participated in the Battle of Germany as an ammunition NCO. His mother, Mrs. Ann Orwin, resides at 20396 Novi Road.

Corporal Winston Edgar has been assigned to the Wright Corporation to aid in building technical data, at Glendale, California.

Second Lieutenant Jerry E. Fisher, whose wife is Mrs. Betty Fisher, 28425 Eight Mile Road, Farmington, has been graduated from the officers' department of Wright Corporation. He is now in New Orleans Army Air Base. He specialized in traffic regulation and highway.

Private First Class Edward E. Bracken, son of William J. Bracken, 18715 Middle Bell, was a part of the First Army Steel column which linked with the Ninth Army to seal off the Ruhr Valley. He is in the 188th Field Artillery Battalion, was attached to a task force of the Third Armored Division, which spearheaded the advance into the Ruhr Valley, Germany. At one point in the operation, the howitzers took a group of German tanks under fire, and later on the same day, they fired for two hours, smashing an enemy counter-attack of strong armored formations. Because of this extensive firing, it became necessary to resupply the ammunition train. The route back to the dump was not a clear one, for much resistance had been passed, to be mopped up later by the infantry formations following up the slaking armor. Since the run promised to be one filled with action, all the members of the ammunition train were alerted and well armed, and their preparations were soon justified.

Shortly after the train pulled out, several scattered groups of German tanks were sighted and taken under fire. There was no further action for some miles, and it looked as if the trip would be a quiet one. Just outside a small village, this illusion was broken by the startling crunch of a German bazooka or hand rocket gun. The column was immediately under attack. The column came to a quick stop, and the men took up firing positions and began to advance against the attack. The fifty caliber machine gun of Pfc. Bracken laid down a protective curtain of fire in front of them, and though they were artillerymen, their fire and movement maneuver was in the best infantry tradition. Against this determined stand the Germans soon broke and scattered into a surrounding forest, leaving several wounded and dead behind them. Bracken and his men continued to spray the woods with carbine and machine gun fire until they were sure that the attack had broken.

Kenneth C. Myers, TM 2/c, U.S. Navy, is now home on a 30-day leave, visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harley Myers, 28035 Norfolk. He will return to California early in June, where he will be in school for two months.

Mrs. James D. Parker and daughter, Edith, attended the reception and tea Friday afternoon given by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pickler, Grosse Pointe, in honor of their niece, Joan McDonald, who became the bride of Mr. James Kirk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce B. Kirk.

Let's Prove We're All in this TOGETHER

BACK THEM UP IN THE BIG SEVENTH

... We've got the biggest home front battle of the war to win right now. It's buying more bonds during the giant Seventh War Loan than we've ever bought before.

THE SEVENTH IS A DOUBLE DRIVE! Last year by this time, we had two drives—the Seventh is the first drive of this year. And, remember, it must do the job of two!

... Be sure and find your quota—then exceed it. Every bond you buy helps bear the tremendous cost of fighting a victorious war thousands of miles from home. And don't forget—bonds are still the world's best investment!

... Buy more bonds during the Seventh—buy them at home, at your office, at your local bond booth. But buy them today.

A Challenge

BY
Guy A. Durgan
TO
Howard M. Warner

I am a candidate for RE-ELECTION to the Board of Education of the Farmington Township School District. Mr. Howard M. Warner is also a candidate, having been drafted by certain individuals in the City of Farmington to oppose me for this office.

Under our American democratic form of government, any and all issues that affect the welfare of the community, especially those issues concerning the education of the children and the administration of public schools, should be openly and publicly discussed before the voters.

I therefore challenge Mr. Howard M. Warner to meet me in open public debate before the people at the Farmington High School Gymnasium-Auditorium on Tuesday evening, June 5, at 8:00 p.m. I propose that this debate be conducted on a high and dignified plane, and that it be presided over by an impartial chairman, to be mutually agreed upon by us.
