What Is Reconversion?

Of course everything will change in the coming years. But why start worrying? There has been plenty of unemployment in times of peace as well as in the period of demobilization, reconversion, and reconstruction.

The Government is not going to be called upon to shift ten or twelve million men from military to civilian life, and give them all new jobs. Basing the future on the history of the last 175 years the chances are that most who change from military uniforms into civilian clothes will get their own jobs — with or without the help of Government and State employment agencies. Our men and women are not going to sit around waiting for directions from Washington about jobs. There are more than one hundred groups of leading manufacturing industries in our country, and they will be happy to hang out signs, "Help Wanted."

All of the war production factories and institutions are raring to go, right now, and begin the production of civilian goods for American customers. There are very few shops, stores, hotels, restaurants — or any kind of a small business in large cities and small cities that have been able to employ enough persons to carry on their affairs in a normal manner.

There's lots of housecleaning to be done; a tremendous amount of repairs to be made — and for a time there are going to be jobs for those who go after them.

We'll have to admit that this prosperous era immediately after the war may not continue over a term of years. And then again, we may get "back to normal," and — hold it!

Time Marches Back

It seems that along about October we will all have the opportunity to turn our clocks back an hour. Daylight saving time was never universally popular even when it was in operation just for the summer. And our present war time which has prevailed the year around since February, 1942, has been barely endured by many, for the sake of the war effort.

Cows are reported to have moored their protest at being put on the swing shift. Mothers in many sections have had difficulty getting their children up and off to school in the dark and to bed in daylight. Early winter morning workers seldom were moved to poetic outbursts by the accompanying moonlight. Farmers have challenged the clock tinkers to provide a way of evaporating the morning dew an hour earlier.

Warm protests have been outweighed by cold statistics showing that wartime has conserved billions of kilowatt hours of electric power.

And then there are individuals, though you may consider them a bit weird, who have actually become accustomed to war time, and they insist they prefer it. It does give one a nice long evening of daylight in which to accomplish many tasks about home, providing one does not too strenuously object to getting up before the break of dawn.

However, like it or not, we'll soon be back on so-called "slow time," and we're willing to wager there is not one among us who won't be relieved to have our entire state running on the same time. It never should have been different, in the first place.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SOCIETY
New High School Auditorium
Farmington

"Christ Jesus" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, September 2.

The Golden Text (John 1:17) is: "The law was given by Moses, but grace and truth came by Jesus Christ."

Among the Bible citations in this passage, (Matthew 4:23): "And Jesus went about all Galilee, teaching in their synagogues, and preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing all manner of sicknesses and all manner of diseases among the people."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (61): "Jesus was unselfish. His selflessly separated him from sensuousness, and caused the selfish materialist to hate him; but it was this spirituality which enabled Jesus to heal the sick, cast out evil, and raise the dead."

Spotted Garments

Never put away a garment spotted with grease or food stains. Regardless of the fiber content—whether wool, rayon or any other—many of the stains will become permanently fixed or at best very difficult to remove if they remain in the garment over the summer.

Corn Exporter

Normally Argentina is the world's largest export producer of corn, exporting in excess of 200,000 bushels annually. Only relatively small quantities of these exports enter the U. S., however, as this country ordinarily is an export basis.

Railroads Busy

On an average of every five seconds throughout the day and night, a new freight train departs from its terminal somewhere in the United States.

Looking Back Through The Enterprise Files

TWENTY FIVE YEARS AGO (September 3, 1920)

Many Will Return For Homecoming

To stimulate interest in the Farmington Homecoming, set for September 1, and promised to be the biggest affair of its kind ever held in the Village, an airplane demonstration has been announced for morning and afternoon. In addition to the exhibition flights made by the plane, passenger trips are to be made, and residents of the village as well as the visitors will be given an opportunity to go up.

Farmington Is Last To Organize

That Farmington is practically the only community in the country which has so far failed to organize itself into a "home" in conjunction with the movement being carried on by the Oakland County Farm Bureau to make farm life more attractive and give to the farmers a square deal in the purchase and sale of their products, was the statement of C. B. Cook, county farm agent.

All Minors To Attend School

Advices received from Lansing concerning the new school law passed by the state legislature, state that after September 1, 1921, all minors under 18 years of age must attend school. Each school district of the state of 5,000 or more and containing 50 or more children, must establish a vocational and general continuation school where pupils over 16 years of age who have left school must attend not less than eight hours each week.

TEN YEARS AGO (September 12, 1935)

Township Schools Closed

As an added precaution against the increase in the number of cases of infantile paralysis, six of which have been reported in Farmington City and Township, the schools which opened Monday in the Township have been closed until September 23.

City Park To Have New Shrubs

For many years Farmington residents have been looking forward to the time when an improvement would be made on Town Hall Park. This anticipation will be fulfilled when work on the project is completed within the next few days. In addition to planting a new lawn on the Farmington Road and Grand River corner of the park, the plans include the setting-in of about forty evergreen bushes along the walks and around the building.

Skeet Shooters May Incorporate

Arrangements are being made by members of the Farmington Skeet Club to make a corporation of their organization. Founded only a short time ago the Farmington Skeet Club has been developed into what seems to be a permanent organization through the enthusiastic efforts and cooperation of its members.

FIVE YEARS AGO (August 29, 1940)

Evard Ayres, Principal, Heads New Teacher List

Eight new teachers have been added to the 1941-42 faculty of the Farmington Schools. Superintendent Orville E. Dunkel announced this week. The list of additions is headed by Evard V. Ayres, who replaces Max Thompson as principal of Farmington High School.

Dr. Switzer's Funeral Friday

Funeral services for Dr. G. R. Switzer will be held at 2 p.m. Friday, August 30, from the Heene Funeral Home and burial will be in Oakwood Cemetery, Farmington. Dr. Switzer died at his home, 2797 Grand River, Tuesday afternoon, following an illness of four months.

Legion Sets Final Gala Day Program

A weekend of festivity is promised for Farmington by Groves-Walker Post 316 of the American Legion, which is busy making final plans for the 19th annual homecoming and Gala Days. Entertainment will include games, contests, prizes, amateur contests, parades, concerts and a gay midway with rides for old and young.

ROCK HARBOR, Isle Royale.

Mich. — Maybe you'll like Isle Harbor, maybe you won't.

This national park the only island wilderness within the continental United States, would provide an ideal wartime hideout from the atomic bomb.

The average island is not readily accessible to travelers by passenger boat. Mackinac Island is an hour's distance from Mackinaw City. St. James on Beaver Island is three and one-half hours' time from Charlevoix. But Isle Royale beats them all.

We left Copper Harbor, at the tip of the scenic, mountainous Keweenaw peninsula, on a 55-foot diesel-powered boat, the Copper Queen, piloted by a sturdy Flinder, Captain Charles Kauppi. Five hours later we arrived at the eastern end of Isle Royale in time for an awaiting roast beef dinner at the Rock Harbor lodge, a national park hotel concession.

When the waves run long on Lake Superior, as is occasionally the case, the traveler is treated to a first-rate miniature of an ocean voyage with seasickness and all. The boat rolls and bobs. You roll and bob with it.

To the hardy traveler, this may be "Adventure" with a capital A. But to others who prefer to enjoy their comforts although straying away from home, the combination may tax human patience. And those who are predestined to seasickness must make the best of the situation and "grin and bear it."

(Note: Seasickness may be prevented if you prefer to enjoy your comfort. The long harbor and hundreds of islands and waterways, safeguarded from the lake. Travel is by rowboat, outboard motor craft or canoe.

If you expect to gaze upon the forest primeval with virgin timber towering high, you'll be disappointed. Isle Royale has been swept repeatedly by fire.

Prehistoric mining pits, dug by

FLY to the island!)

Assuming that you'll enjoy (as well as survive) the lake trip, here's what you may expect to find at this rocky national park with around 400 charted islands surrounding it like a south-east coral reef.

Although still in Michigan the island is only 19 miles from Minnesota and 29 miles from Thunder Bay on the Canadian shore. Geologically it is part of the Keweenaw peninsula which accounts for presence of native copper.

Your lodging will be limited to one of three park hotels. Rock Harbor lodge on Rock Harbor (which is 11 miles long); Belle Isle camp, on the north side of the island; and Windigo Inn on Washington Harbor at the western end and closest to Minnesota.

Only the Rock Harbor Lodge was open in 1915. American plan daily rates per person at the guest house: Single, $7.25; single beds, $6.50; double beds, $9.25. Cabin rates: Single, $6; single beds, $5.75; double beds, $5.50.

For 1946 tourist information write to George F. Bagley, superintendent, Isle Royale National Park, via Duluth, Minn.

Because the Isle Royale Park is so new — it was authorized by Congress in 1931 and formally created April, 1940 — you may prefer to wait several years when adequate and modern facilities should be available of a standard to be found in other national parks.

The park has its own post-war program. Three hotel buildings, privately built, will be razed. New lodges and cabins, complete to electricity and modern conveniences, are to be constructed in their place. The Windigo Inn and Belle Isle camp will have accommodations for 200 persons each. Rock Harbor lodge likewise is to be expanded.

There are no roads on the island. No automobiles, no horses, no bridge paths. Travel is limited to foot and water. Because pedestrian travel is slow, you may prefer to use a boat to get around and visit places. The long harbor and hundreds of islands and waterways, safeguarded from the lake. Travel is by rowboat, outboard motor craft or canoe.

If you expect to gaze upon the forest primeval with virgin timber towering high, you'll be disappointed. Isle Royale has been swept repeatedly by fire.

BITS OF THIS AND THAT

By ELMER T. POCKLINGTON

A METAPHORICAL MEDLEY
I like a pup that can win a cup
Or that has no family tree,
That is nice and kind and likes to mind
And will be a friend to me.

I don't like curs that bark their slurs
Or jump on the passer-by,
Or the ugly hound folks keep around
And never know just why.

I like a cat that is nice and fat,
With a coat that is sleek and clean;
All clothed with fur and filled with purr
And not the least bit mean.

I'll tell you that there is a cat
Who always stirs my peeve,
I have no love for the feline dove
With a dagger up her sleeve.
