

Mattress Care
Mattresses need special care in warm humid weather to keep them from acquiring a musty odor or mildew. At least once a week mattresses need airing, and occasional sunning in bright, dry weather.

Oven Racks
Always place oven racks in position before preheating the oven. Plus being easier to handle when cold, it's wasteful of heat to leave the oven door open while adjusting hot oven racks.

LYON IS IN THE STREETS
Adria Locke Langley. This is a story of a man, potentially a great leader, tricked and destroyed by his love of power, and of a woman, loyal and honorable, forced to choose between her love and her deepest convictions.

Here, in the backland hills and marshes of the Magnolia State, is Hank Martin, unlettered but indomitable, on his back a pedler's bundle, in his mind a driving ambition for success, in his heart the sweet-faced image of Verity, the young teacher from North. Here, in the country schoolhouse, is Verity, knowing at a glance that this is her man — believing that she will love him to the ends of the earth and farther. The personal drama of these two unfolding slowly and inevitably to its tremendous climax is both profoundly human and utterly moving. In Hank, with his drive, his shrewd knowledge of mankind, his rich earthy speech and his feet of clay, you will find a man whom you will genuinely understand and pity even while you condemn his practices and fear the deeds of his kind. In Verity, loving, forbearing, faithful to her man but above all faithful to herself, you will know a woman who commands every last shred of your admiration. And in the Magnolia State, with its swamp folk and back-country farmers, its malefactors of great wealth no less than its philanthropists, its snide politicians and its out-and-out criminals, its ordinary decent people who cannot be deceived forever, you will see your own America.

This is a book of warning, to America, but it is also a book of faith in America. A truly magnificent novel by any standards.

THE BLACK SPANIEL MYSTERY — Betty Cavanna has added an exciting mystery and a group of delightful new characters to her latest book, which retains all the charm and doggy appeal of "Puppy Stakes."

Two black cocker spaniel pups, like as two peas in a pod, true time purposefully down a country road seem amusing but not extraordinary. How could Judy and Jett know that these pups were to plunge them into mystery and adventure? Lynn Matthews, their quiet neighbor, claims the pups as hers. And Art Gross, wealthy, claims they are his. And Art Gross, wealthy, claims they are his. And Art Gross, wealthy, claims they are his.

WEST POINT PARK

By L. A. Ault

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Jay Streland, Mayfield Avenue, was taken seriously ill with bronchial asthma the first of last week but is now considerably improved.

Mrs. J. W. Ault was taken very seriously ill Friday morning of last week.

The Postners, of Farmington Road, are living in Detroit while their home is undergoing certain improvements.

Halph Voorhees is completing improvements on his Shady Side Avenue home.

Mrs. Jack Tallman and Mrs. Gordon Vance were called into Detroit Wednesday.

Mrs. Walter Rehman entertained guests from Garden City Sunday.

Rev. and Mrs. Gordon Cameron, from Redford, were calling on friends in West Point Park Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Walter Dixon, from over on Britton Road, visited with Grandma Ault Sunday afternoon.

Sergeant Robert M. Hunter visited his uncle, Edward Stromoski, who has been quite ill, in Wayne Tuesday of last week. He was accompanied by his grandmother and mother, Mrs. Margaret Martin and Mrs. M. E. Ault.

The Basfields, from Hudson, were visiting their daughter, Mrs. George Middlewood and family on Farmington Road, Sunday.

Mrs. John Mercer, Seven Mile Road, was a visitor in Detroit Friday.

thoroughbreds. When two black pups turn up in Lynn's pen, matters are only more complicated.

For the claims that these are not her dogs? Lynn insists that Shadow and Sambo belong to her. Yet Art Gross has papers to prove his ownership.

It takes all the ingenuity of the Sutherland twins, with the help of old Mamam, a thunderstorm and a forgotten photograph, to solve the mystery and to return the two thoroughbreds to their rightful owner.

PRIDE'S WAY — Robert Molloy, Charleston, 1910. Impossi-missions, Victorian gingerbread houses, Negro shacks, Crape myrtle, azaleas, geraniums in rust tin cans. Turbanned Mammas on the Battery. The "raw swamp" man bawling his wares in rich Gullah. And the Gerard sisters guffing up their latest daemonic trick.

dedicated to Miss Julie and claimed by Miss Tessie. That's "Pride's Way."

Miss Julie was a simple old lady who believed in enjoying life. She loved rich food — mushy bananas, fish chowder, marinated beef. She loved her grandchildren, and she loved her collection of tinol pickled from every gutter in Charleston.

Miss Tessie was a sterner, more complicated character. A perfectionist, she brought her own coffeepot when invited to dinner. She believed that her dear daughter, Theodora, was one of the brightest saints in heaven.

And she was, like so many old ladies in Charleston and elsewhere, just a little queer.

Miss Julie was comfortable in the spacious home of her son-in-law, Henry O'Donnell, with a "grayden," servants, and three big meals a day. She wanted to stay there. But Miss Tessie felt that they should live out their last few years together, and gave Miss Julie no peace until they were established in dingy lodgings in Queen Street, making ends meet on their Confederate pensions and Miss Tessie's infrequent earnings at a nurse.

What Miss Julie did about "the mess she had got herself into," what Miss Tessie did when Miss Julie walked out on her, and what Henry O'Donnell did to save the family pride when Miss Tessie began taking magazine subscriptions, make this a unique and appealing book.

day. She was accompanied by her daughter, Elizabeth, who has been home on a ten day leave from the Waves.

F. Broquet attended Memorial Services for his wife, Emily Broquet, who died two years ago this month, in the First Christian and Missionary Alliance Church in Detroit Sunday. Other members of his family joined him.

Sergeant Robert M. Hunter was the special guest at a dinner party given in his honor at the home of his sister, Mrs. Edwin L. Johnson, on Clarita, Wednesday evening. Covers were laid for about twelve.

Miss Geraldine Wolfe has completed arrangements for entering the University at Ann Arbor this fall.

Charles Bolyard, lately of Hubbard Avenue, is constructing a new home in the section east of Hubbard.

Soldier Jack Ray, formerly a West Point Park resident, was recently visiting friends here while on leave.

Mrs. Loren Ray, from Detroit, visited her parents, the Bolyards, last weekend. Her husband is still overseas.

The Jack Omans have moved to Ohio.

Mrs. John Varhol is suffering from a severe steam burn on her arm, accidentally received last week.

Miss Joyce Chavey, Mayfield Avenue, whose marriage is to be an event of September 29th, was given a kitchen shower at the home of Mrs. George Berger, of Mayfield Avenue, Tuesday afternoon of last week. Mrs. William Fisher assisted Mrs. Berger with arrangements.

About eighteen ladies from the immediate neighborhood. The numerous gifts were lovely as well as useful. Following the very interesting presentation, a dainty lunch was served.

Marvin Adels has been on the sick list for two weeks.

An eight pound son, Robert Dean, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Harold McVicar of Norfolk Avenue, Monday, September 17th, at Mount Carmel Hospital. Mother and son are doing nicely and are returning home this Monday.

Announcement has been received from Mr. and Mrs. Johnson Porter, New London, Ohio, saying their new son, born September 11, is to be called John Melvin. John was the name of the young man's great grandfather, John W. Ault, and Melvin the first name of his grandfather, M. E. Ault.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fredericks, formerly of West Point Park, but now of St. Petersburg, Florida, spent a week with Mrs. Fredericks' daughter, Mrs. Henry Miner, of Detroit, and visited a number of friends in this section during their stay which was cut short by news of the hurricane which did so much damage recently in the south. Mrs. Fredericks' stepfather, Leslie Mansfield, was the victim of a severe heart attack during the storm, and her aged mother, Mrs. Mansfield, has been suffering from nervous shock. It is not known whether there was any property damage. The Fredericks started on their way home early Thursday morning.

Soldier Bill Owen spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Owen and returned to Chanute Field with his little daughter, Sandra, who has been visiting with her grandparents here.

The Sunshine meeting at the Neighborhood Church Wednesday afternoon of last week took on the nature of an informal reception for Mrs. Robert Fredericks, who had been with the Sunshine Sisters at their start several years ago and now resides in Florida. Other specially invited old friends were in attendance and it proved a most happy event. Two gentlemen, Mr. Robert Fredericks and Sergeant Robert M. Hunter, from Clivis, New Mexico, were also in attendance. Homemade cake, tea and coffee were served by the committee in charge.

Sailor Donald Vance, who has been home for a fifteen day leave, is returning to California this Monday.

Rev. Axel Edwards is to speak at the 6:30 p.m. Vesper Meeting in the Neighborhood Church next Sunday evening. A program mostly of music, was conducted last Sunday evening, with Mrs. Walter Dixon, from the Gaylord Baptist Church, in charge.

Lightning Fatalities
Lightning kills about 400 people each year in the United States—most of them on farms—according to the National Safety Council. Records show that lightning accounts for 16 per cent of the accidental deaths on farms in Alabama and 6 per cent in Kansas, indicating that the danger varies from state to state, according to the prevalence of electrical storms.
