THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

DICK: "I wonder how the distillers feel about that new movie built around an alcoholic."

OLD JUDGE: "It's funny you asked that, Dick... I was just reading a piece about it."

DICK: "What did it say?"

OLD JUDGE: "A very sensible statement. It said the beverage distillers are fully aware of this problem and are cooperating in every way possible to help solve it. The alcoholic is to the beverage distilling industry what the reckless driver is to the automobile industry. There is nothing wrong with the automobile, but in the hands of a man who doesn't know how to drive it or is reckless, it becomes a menace. Likewise, it's not the use but the abuse of alcoholic beverages that causes trouble."

DICK: "Wonder why it is most men can drink moderately and others can't?"

OLD JUDGE: "Intensive research at a great university has shown that most excessive drinkers are really sick people. They are suffering from some physical, social or emotional upset. And great strides have been made in developing clinical methods of helping these unfortunate people."

properly bubble, as the Michigan banks holidays. The last two years — 1933 and 1934 — marked the period of industrial unrest and unemployment, featured by the historic UAW sit-down strike in 1937 under the Murphy administration.

From a $1 million revenue point in 1933-34, while the treasury was running a deficit, the golden state tax has mounted annually. For the 1934-35 year it yielded $1 million. In 1934-35 it rose to $3.3 million. The current year, ending June 30, 1935 will see it further rise to around $5 million.

It is easy to see that the state sales tax has DOUBLED revenue in 15 years and the end is not yet in sight.

There is no magic, however, in the continuous rise of tax revenue, due to collection of many pennies on retail sales.

War inflation of prices (due partly to rise of labor costs, or course) is chiefly responsible for the boom.

It is the plight of Michigan's large cities, especially those having a 15 mill tax limitation (Grand Rapids, Flint, Saginaw, Pontiac, Jackson, Muskegon and Battle Creek), which inspires much anguish and tears at legislative hearings at Lansing.

Mayor Edward F. Jeffries of Detroit has been a leading pleader, and it should be said with fairness that the cities have a good case. Per capita costs increase with the size of a city, so that the larger the city the more it must bear the burden of the cost. This is a national problem, indicated by the fact that one person in every five lives in one of the 20 largest cities.

Property values are declining in cities, while wealth moves to the lower-taxed suburbs and adjacent towns. This population decentralization has left the cities with severe economic and social problems. Detroit's race riot was a by-product.

Unfortunately there is no unanimity of opinion on just how taxes should be levied and by whom.

Michigan voters have rejected a state income tax over and over again.

Experts go into huddles, new commissions are appointed, and still the answer is far from being found.

The certainty that the federal deficit, already of staggering proportions, must continue at a high peak for many years to come, with an inevitable price of interest and inflation, is now too reassuring to thriftpundred taxpayers. The cost of running the federal government will continue higher than ever before. Higher wages of federal employees, retirement pensions, veterans' benefits and large expenditures for military requirements all contribute to the postwar picture of high taxes.

Amid all the feverish rush to get a slice of the state money, the following observations are in order:

A return of unemployment, such as was experienced in 1932 and 1933 and again in 1933 and 1934,

THERE ISN'T ALWAYS ROOM FOR ONE MORE

Dad found this out when he tried to flag a bus during yesterday evening's rush hour. Mother discovered the same thing when she plugged in her electric waffle iron, and blew a fuse. And Junior has noticed that his electric train won't pull as many cars when Sis is ironing. No, there isn't always room for one more, particularly when it comes to adding new and wonderful electrical appliances to an obsolete house-wiring system. Almost any of the older homes of today are likely to have too few electrical circuits to carry many electrical appliances needed in today's living. Your home can be as adequately wired as a new house—the cost is small compared with the comfort and convenience you will enjoy. Then, too—if you are planning a new home, be sure it has plenty of outlets, conveniently located, and served by enough circuits properly distributed.

This is one of a series of advertisements prepared in the interest of the electrical contractors in your area to insure adequate wiring for every home. When you build or remodel, be sure your home is properly wired.
