

Band Mothers May Organize Club

Mr. Smith and the Band Board are inviting interested mothers of pupils in the Farmington Bands to participate in an active Band Mothers' Club. They are planning a meeting to be held soon. One of the first activities of the club will be to assist in selling refreshments at the tournament games March 7, 8 and 9. Mothers are asked to call Lloyd Smith for further information. —M.J.S.

Freshmen Conquer Redford Union

The Falcon Freshies won their second game of the 1945-1946 season last Friday as they trounced the Redford Union Five, 43-17. The Panthers made their only threat in the first quarter, but the Farmington Captains hit them and went on to win, never losing their lead. Falcon scoring ran as follows: Bryant 15; McLean 11; Mitchell 5; Van Every 4; Rudberg 4; Rat-Hit 4; Wieland 2; Cartee 0. —B.C.

Office Notes

Because of veterans returning so rapidly the office had a lot of requests for transcripts of credit for those who wish to continue their education. The cost situation is quite critical as far as schools are concerned. There is a serious shortage in two of the buildings, the West Farmington school and the High School gym. It is hoped extra fuel will be available soon, before it becomes necessary to close. C.N.

Teachers have pet names for each other, too. And how! One of them is affectionately called the "Motor Motor" by her faculty friends. Why?

NORTHVILLE DROPS TWO TO J.E.S. QUINTETS

The future of Farmington Captains looked bright as the seventh and eighth graders handed a group of Northville hands two successive defeats.

In the first victory the attack was led by "Smookey" Aschen-Brenner, who tallied 7 points, followed by Jimmy Bates with 5 and Jerry Pulcher with 3. The Northville Five were able to get only one basket, and the game ended 15 to 2 in favor of Farmington.

In the second tilt the Farmington boys ran into some stiff competition but finally outlasted and outscored the opposition as lanky Hebble Dubel connected for 8 points and Dick Louys with 4. The top scorers for the Mustangs were Porter and Robinson with 4 points each. The final score was Farmington 15, Northville 13.

Both Falcon teams showed good passing and teamwork which should provide many more victories. —H.T.

R. E. LEE ADVOCATES HOBBIES FOR ALL

Do you have a hobby? We have discovered that Robert E. Lee, sophomore, correlates his hobby, collecting outdoor life, with three of his subjects—Biology, Shop and English.

Last year he brought a male and a female owl to school where the Biology classes observed them for several days. Most of his English reports deal with nature, and he is even writing a book on this subject. In connection with Shop, he makes cages and traps as trapping is his main interest in the winter.

Every summer he returns to his home in Kentucky, where he works on the farm and studies nature. He has been interested in the outdoors all his life and states that there is no end to learning in that field. —M.J.E.

EDITORIAL

"All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy." Add a dash of out-of-the-ordinary to anything, then discover the fun.

Have you noticed all the new activities in F.H.S. lately? They tend to prove that mixing school work with worthwhile, pleasure results. The Glee Clubs have stimulated interest in their groups with an operetta; the Student Council has been editing a weekly news sheet; and inter-schools Declamation Club had its initial meeting a few weeks ago under the direction of Mr. Mattala, one of the speech teachers. Bowling leagues are springing up in the Senior class. These leagues have brought organized recreation to the boys and also matched them against some of the faculty. The Student Council sponsored "Monitor Club" Monday. We might cite results gained by this organization to support Jack's policy. Our monitor system previous to the club formation did not function so well, which can be expected. Then they organized, set up aims, elected officers, and made plans for some future fun, including a few social activities for their own group. Monitors apparently take greater interest in their duties and a change, consequently was noticed in the attitude of the student toward the monitors. —H.C.

Farmington People Broadcast Tuesday Everything from music to basketball will be featured as Farmington takes the air over WCAR, Tuesday at 2:30. Director and producer Lloyd Smith, Jr., has assembled a cast of about thirty students into "Big Shots", the sketch to be presented by the speech, music and athletic departments.

Besides the students Coach Robert Hutton, Miss Phyllis Gardner and Mr. Tarmo Mattala will probably appear on the program. Remember the time — 2:30, Tuesday, February 12 over WCAR. —H.M.H.

THUMBNAILED BIOGRAPHIES Margaret Wolfe. Short of height but not short of spirit best portraits "Maggie", her light brown hair, and 17 years old. A "Maggie" a nurse. Ideal Date. Much taller than she, a blond with a nice, fun-loving personality. Her date would be a hilarious time of swimming at Long Beach and drinking Pepsi-Cola floats. Favorite Song — "Chopin's music."

Dave Carter. "A gift to women" someone said one day. This senior is blond, has blue eyes, and is 17 years of age. Ambition — Minister. Ideal Date — Undecided, but a trip to the Fiji Islands would be their destination. Favorite Song — "Temptation."

Betty Hunt. Illustrator for this year's annual, one of last year's representatives at Wolverine State, and a very helpful nature can describe only one person, Betty Hunt. Ambition — Designer. Ideal Date — The traditional, "tail, back and hand" would whisk away to a picnic and a swimming party. Favorite Song — "Embraceable You." —M.H.W.

What is that constant rumbling in Economics class? More veterans are returning to school, girls! It really is swell to have them back.

TAIL LIGHTS Miss Dammann's English classes are being instructed in library techniques. Each class spent one "laboratory period" under Miss Abbott's instruction this last week. As a final summary, each student had to use what he had learned by solving a special application problem.

Mothers, no longer, can you accuse your daughters of not knowing how to make a decent bed. The I.L.E. 3 girls are getting plenty of practice making beds in their home nursing course.

As a special project, all the Homemaking classes and the Homemaking Club are sewing utility bags for servicemen. This is in connection with the Junior Red Cross work which the girls do outside of class.

Looks as if the drive for old clothes to be sent to needy families in war-torn countries was a huge success. In order to take them to Detroit Mr. Oliver had to have higher sides built for his trailer. Prompted by the desire to help the March of Dimes, there was a contest between the girls' health classes and the boys'. The losers are sponsoring a party for the victors. Lucky winners!

Going back to their childhood days, the kids in English IV are entering the land of the Lilliputians. Seriously, they are merely studying "Gulliver's Travels" as a satire. —M.J.E. and M.H.

Three Senior girls certainly were way out ahead of the crowd when they were back in '45, they selected their Senior felts to the Girl Bid and ruined everyone's hopes.

CONFERENCE DELEGATES SELECTED

At the Student Council Conference in Ypsilanti Tuesday, Farmington will be represented by two students from each class plus Council president Bob Miller and sponsor, as was decided at the January 29 meeting of the Student Council.

Many topics concerning the duties and problems of a Student Council will be discussed by the attending delegates from some ten schools. Council members from Farmington will be Beverly Taylor and Ivan Anderson, freshmen; Marge Young and Ann Pierce, sophomores; Donna Lambert and Tom Balone, juniors; and Charlotte Shaw and Elizabeth Johnson, seniors. —H.M.H.
