

WEST POINT PARK

By
MISS L. A. AULT

Mrs. Jacob Sheets, from Roanoke, Ind., is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Homer Coolman; and Mrs. Russell Ault and their families. Clyde Buckingham was a visitor in Detroit Saturday.

George Berger, Mayfield Ave., was on the sick list this last week. Arthur Muir, Shady Side Ave., had a flu attack last week.

Mrs. Herman Schult was a flu victim last week.

Mr. and Mrs. George Middlewood spent Saturday evening with friends in Detroit.

The Stages were in Detroit all day Saturday.

During the last week Miss Leona Posner, Farmington Road, was reported ill with chickenpox.

In a scuffle with a schoolmate Donald Döllinger broke a bone in his right hand and sprained it last Tuesday. It proved an interference to his clarinet practice.

Homer Middlewood, from Detroit, was calling on West Point Park relatives Saturday.

Richard Varhol, who has been quite ill, was able to be out Sunday.

Mrs. M. E. Ault was a caller at the Johnsons, over on Clarita on Thursday. Her little granddaughter, Anne Johnson, has been ill.

Mrs. Jack Oman and daughter, Ruth Ann, who have been visiting West Point Park relatives during the last ten days returned to their home in Toledo Friday evening.

George Middlewood is suffering from a leg injury sustained when he accidentally fell on a stairs recently. A physician has advised that the limb be given plenty of rest.

Forrest E. Ault, whose education was interrupted when he enlisted in the Air Force a few weeks before Pearl Harbor, expects to enter Wayne University this week.

Memorial services for Don and Dean Codman, who were lost in the European war theatre a little more than a year ago, are expected to be held in the First Methodist Church in Farmington next Sunday, February 10th, at 2:30 p.m.

The Senior Girl Scouts held another pleasant get-together at the home of Dolores and Shirley Ault the first of last week. They are holding a special session at the Harrison home on Eight Mile Road Monday night of this week.

West Point Park was well represented in the attendance at the basketball game over in Northville Friday night.

Miss Helen Anne Dolores and Shirley Ault were among a group of young folks who enjoyed a skating excursion to Homestead Lake Sunday afternoon.

Sailor Donald Voorhees, who made much action in the Pacific war area, telephoned his mother, Mrs. Ralph Voorhees, Shady Side Ave., one night last week. He had arrived at a western port and expected to reach home this Monday.

Harvey Priest, who served with our armed forces in the Pacific, arrived home a week ago, following his brother, Ernest, by one day.

Miss Patty Schult, Shady Side Ave., discovered a twenty dollar bill hidden away by twigs in the field near Pierson School one day last week. The little girl's mother promptly reported the find to the school authorities. Very soon the money was clearly identified as the property of a teacher in the school. The bill had been placed in an envelope to be mailed several weeks ago and was apparently lost on the way to the mail box. Patty received a handsome little reward.

Town Hall Features House And Garden Editor

Richardson Wright, Editor of House and Garden Magazine, and author of some of the most important books on interior decorating and design will talk on Spring Gardens at Detroit Town Hall in the Fisher Theatre, Wednesday morning, February 13, at eleven o'clock.

The editor is a full time year-around enthusiast in the field of his activities, but is also the author of a number of travel books based on his journeys through Manchuria and Siberia as a special correspondent for the New York World, Chicago Daily News and London Daily Express.

After his return from the Far East he was literary critic of the New York Times and dramatic critic of Smart Styles. Since joining House and Garden he has written twenty books on homes, including the most recent being "House and Garden's Book on Gardening," "Complete Guide to Interior Decoration," and "The Bed Book of Eating and Drinking."

Wright's special hobby is delving into old town histories, and the yellowing sheets of obscure country presses for odd bits of information. He has a delightful country home in Connecticut where he produces magnificent flowers.

Mr. and Mrs. Noel Cattlett and his brother, Paul, entertained their sister and her husband from Ohio. Mrs. Arthur Lamb was a Redford business caller Monday.
