

BY CABLEGRAM . . . comes a message which we would like to pass on to all our readers, it is to them as we did. The message reads: "Information received thirty eight boxes food stuff and thirty three bundles shoes and clothing left Farmington destination Europe also additional collections under way permit me to congratulate the people of Farmington for their splendid response to the need of critical personal thanks to all. The signature of the message is John A. Lutz, Deputy Chief, Machinery Police Sect., Economic Division. To be sure Farmington did do a good turn for the less fortunate - and now we've another chance to help out by way of the Emergency Food Collection. Can you contribute some tin cans of food for the starving peoples of Europe?"

THIS SATURDAY AFTERNOON . . . Elsewhere in this issue you will find a list of door prizes to be given at the party - prizes that will delight anyone who is at all interested in gardening. The ladies will play whatever game of cards they choose during the afternoon, and then there will be tea and a fashion show put on by the Ladies Apparel Shoppe of new clothes for spring and early summer. We understand there may still be a few tickets left, so call Mrs. Richard Lancaster or Mrs. P. A. Hennault and make your reservation now. This is always a lovely party, and promises to be particularly nice this year.

CONTRARY TO ANY RUMOR . . . You may have heard, Civic Theatre Manager Luther McConnell is not leaving Farmington. Mr. McConnell, at the request of the Associated Theatres Inc. who operate Farmington's Civic Theatre, expects to remain in Farmington, and will be very much interested in running a good theatre for the part - to carry on the business of the theatre. Mr. McConnell is a former manager Eddie Holter is back here after serving with the United States Marines - but there is no truth in it. "Mac" will be right here with us, and he says he's going to do his best to bring the top entertainment to Farmington. As matter of fact, on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, the showing of "Lost Week End" will be given away on Wednesday night only that week, May 23, so don't go to the movie on Thursday and expect to get a dish. After all who could expect a free dish with "Lost Week End"?

RESIDENTS . . . who are not registered voters in the City or Township should keep in mind the fact that Wednesday, May 23, is the last day for registration. Call City Clerk Moore or Township Clerk Harry McBracken will gladly take your registration up until that time, but don't wait too long. The primary is unusually early this year, you know - June 15 to be exact.

GREEN VELVET . . . The rain, together with having nothing on Spence Heene's lawn. The rain, together with the turn to warmer weather has certainly brought out the very best in that lawn, as it seems to have done everything else. Um-huh, there's something about the spring!

THE BROWNOUT . . . made necessary by the shortage of coal due to the strike, brought us back with sharp reality to the days during the war when brownout was also in effect, but for a highly different reason. The city looks so dark and somewhat kind of dirty and forlorn when evening comes now, and all because we do not dare use precious coal for unnecessary lighting.

Buddy Poppies Made By Vets

America's flower of remembrance - the Buddy Poppy - is being primed for its 25th annual show the week preceding Memorial Day, May 30. That display, nationwide in scope, will be the greatest ever staged when 16 million persons are expected to wear an equal number of the crimson blossoms in honor of the nation's war dead.

Buddy Poppies will be sold by more than 6,000 posts of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. The flowers, made by disabled war veterans in government hospitals, were named "Buddy" poppies in honor of their comrades who fell in battle. This year, as in the past, the poppies will serve to honor not only World War I heroes but also those of America's other conflicts.

V.F.W. Post 4033 will sponsor the sale of Buddy Poppies in Farmington on Thursday and Friday, May 23 and 24. Commander Tardy announced today. Proceeds from the sale will be used exclusively for relief and welfare work among disabled veterans and their dependents.

One penny from the sale of every poppy is contributed to the fund of the National Home for Ex-Servicemen, Michigan, where the V.F.W. provides a modern family environment for the orphans and widows of veterans.
