

BROWNIE SCOUTS JOIN TROOP AT INVESTITURE

Nineteen little girls became Brownie Scouts of Troop 2 at a very lovely investiture held at the William Grace School on Thursday, October 17, at three o'clock. Mrs. V. Yolkosky and her assistant, Mrs. L. Kelly, received the girls at the "pool" where their Brownie pins lay among the pine boughs. They repeated the lines, "Twist me and turn me, and show me the elf. I looked in the pool, and saw — myself!" The girls then received their pins and repeated the Brownie Promise, "I promise to love God and my country, to help other people every day, especially those at home."

Following the ceremony the leaders served the girls and their mothers from an attractive tea table, which was centered with a cake decorated with lively looking Brownies. Everyone enjoyed the pleasant afternoon and congratulated the leaders and the new Brownies.

Those invested at this ceremony were Barbara E. Malenfant, Joan Clark, Judith N. Davis, Bobbie Louise Denny, Annette Duvall, Mary Jane Prater, Judy Hoening, Barbara Hoppe, Betty Jennings, Linda Jane Kelly, Mary Lou Mason, Barbara McGowan, Marie Joan Moore, Margaret P. Frances, Eleanor Scott, Elva Mae Williams, Karel Zingelman, Judith Brumm and Joanne Brumm.

Thirsty Tomatoes

When tomato roots are unable to get enough water from the soil in periods of drought to supply the needs of the growing plant, water may be drawn from developing fruits causing collapse and death of tissue in the area farthest from the stem. This injured area is often invaded by fruit rotting organisms, and as the fruit grows larger the spot or dead area increases in size and becomes leathery. The affected fruit is usually a total loss.

FALL "KICK-OFF" WELL ATTENDED BY YOUNG PEOPLE

One hundred thirty young people attended the Young People's Banquet Saturday evening, October 18th at the Farmington First Baptist Church. The theme "The Fall Kick-Off" was artistically brought out in the decorations of the tables by eight youth organizations of the church for which first, second and third prizes were awarded. "Pigs in a Blanket" were appropriately served.

The witty and entertaining Toastmaster, Mrs. Don Bowman, presented Miss Urquhart a talented reader, who gave a most unusual Scriptural reading. After some strictly Southern numbers by the male quartette, Rev. George Hileman of the Westwood Baptist Church of Westwood, made a "touch-down" in demonstrations in magic, with a message.

KEEP MILK CLEAN, COLD AND COVERED FOR MORE RETURNS

Although mathematics teachers may not notice it that way, Dr. G. M. Trout, professor of dairy management at Michigan State College, says three "C's" add up to make one or more of one large "C". The three "C's" to which Doctor Trout refers are those of quality milk production. By keeping milk clean, cold and covered, the dairy department specialist says it will mean more cash. That's the large "C" to which he refers — and the one in which most farmers are concerned.

Contrary to the opinions of many, the aeration of milk is not necessary. It is true that for years most farmers let milk in open cans or vats where it was exposed to the air. Experimentation shows that aeration does remove some of the off-odors which may get into milk. But Dr. Trout says that's unnecessary if the farmer keeps the odors out of his milk.

Proper stable ventilation and the feeding of odor producing feeds, such as silage, after milking is completed is the best solution. Straining of milk on the farm should not be necessary, Dr. Trout adds. He reports that some plants remove the milk is not to be strained before delivery to the plant. These plant operators want to be sure the milk is produced under conditions which will not allow extraneous matter to fall in to the milk.

People, when questioned why they drink milk, usually answer: "Because I like it," Dr. Trout reports. The good flavor and high quality of milk go hand in hand and the farmers can maintain their best market only by producing better milk, he explains.

Inspectors To Enforce Christmas Tree Law

The Department of Agriculture inspectors from the Bureau of Plant Industry will again be required to enforce the provisions of Act 124, Public Acts 1933, known as the Evergreen Tree Act or Christmas Tree Law, says Director Charles Figg. We are cooperating with the Department of Conservation, the Michigan State Police, and local enforcing agencies in the enforcement of the Act.

Cut Christmas trees are not required to be inspected but must be accompanied by a Bill of Sale. Some 20,000 forms for this purpose are being mailed to Conservation headquarters, State Police Headquarters, County Agents' offices, County Sheriff's offices, U.S. Forestry Service, or the forms may be obtained by writing directly to the Department of Agriculture at Lansing.

No person is allowed under this law to cut, remove or transport Christmas trees, evergreen branches or other parts of plant material without obtaining the permission of the property owner and be furnished with a Bill of Sale by the person owning the property to show that this permission has been granted. However, any tree or plant material with roots attached constitutes nursery stock and must not be moved or transported in Michigan until it has been inspected and by an official inspector of this Department and a certificate issued indicating its freedom from disease and insects.

The Department of Agriculture will establish highway police posts operating on a 24 hour basis every day throughout the season where this material will be checked by Department staff inspectors, says Director Figg. We are appealing
