NEW
rat killer

It's a Dr. Hess product and it's called Anturat.

It's ideal for farm use because it's not dangerous to poultry, livestock, or pets if properly used.

It's more effective than squill against the Norway or common brown rat.

It's tasteless—the rats can't detect it in feed or other baits. It can be used as a tracking poison—rats walk in it, lick their feet, and die.

Kill costly and dangerous rats now with Anturat—we have Anturat in stock.
