MISSIONARY INSTITUTE TO BE HELD WEDNESDAY

The Annual Missionary Institute, in which women of all denominations participate, sponsored by the Detroit Council of Church Women, under the leadership of Mrs. A. A. Putman, president, and with Mrs. T. Braham as chairman, will be held Wednesday, September 24, 1947, at the Downtown Y.W.C.A., beginning with registration at 10 a.m.

The theme is "World Evangelism" the study books, "Committed Unto Us" by Willis Lamott, and "Great is the Company" by Violet Wood; and the adult leader Mrs. Gare B. Reid, well known as the organizer of Adult Discussion and Study Groups.

The morning session will be devoted to presentation of the subject matter and study methods, and in the afternoon session, convening at 1:30 p.m. there will be eight study groups, and a Question and Answer period, closing promptly at 3:00 p.m.

JOSEPH DUFRESNE TAKES HEATING COURSE AT U OF I

Joseph Dufresne, 19410 Fitzgerald Street, Farmington, of the Rite Way Installers was enrolled in a three-day course on hot water and steam heating systems, conducted at the Navy Pier branch of the University of Illinois. Classes were held September 9, 10, and 11.

The short course was sponsored by the University's extension division in cooperation with the Institute of Boiler and Radiator Manufacturers. It was the first of a number of similar extension courses which will be offered at the Pier. Previously, the University of Illinois' extension services utilized various Loop facilities for courses offered in cooperation with industry.

The I.B.R. course was designed primarily for workers engaged in installing hot water and steam heating systems. Lectures and laboratory work were built around such topics as "Heat Loss Through Building Construction", "The Future of Panel Heating", and "Modernizing Old Heating Systems".

Instructors for the course were drawn from industry and from the University of Illinois' College of Engineering.

'I'm From Missouri'

The expression, "I'm from Missouri—you have to show me," was originated by Willard Duncan Vandiver, former representative from Missouri, and a member of the house committee on naval affairs. He first used the expression in a speech at a navy banquet at Philadelphia in 1899. It later was used as the national Democratic party slogan in the 1912 campaign when Champ Clark was a candidate.

Fail to Pass Test

Vultures, which are supposed to have an exceptionally keen sense of smell, are actually deficient in this regard. Although the openings of the nostrils are very large, they possess a very weak sense of smell. They detect their food by sight from great distances.

Uncle Sam Says

Whenever I hear one of my nephews say he has bought United States Savings Bonds, I feel like nudging him and saying: "Nephew, you haven't really bought anything. That may sound strange at first, but the proof is simple. Ordinarily when you buy something you have to spend your money. What you have actually done in acquiring savings bonds is to exchange non-interest bearing notes for interest bearing ones. You have merely converted your money into a different form, a form in which it will start growing in amount. In savings bonds form your money earns $4 for every $3 invested in ten years.

SANTO FACES DEPORTATION CHARGES

NEW YORK — SOUNDPHOTO — John Santo, national organizer of the Transport Workers' Union is shown with Mike Quill, president of that organization, at the hearing in U. S. Immigration Service Headquarters in New York. The government seeks to deport Santo as an undesirable alien. He is charged with entering the U. S. illegally from Romania in 1927 and of being affiliated with "an organization advocating and teaching the overthrow by force and violence of the U. S. Government." He is the first of more than 100 alien communist labor leaders to face deportation charges under an order by Attorney General Tom Clark to "get these people out of the country". Left to right are: Arthur J. Phelan, presiding inspector; Quill, Santo and Harry Sachen, Counsel for Santo.

VETERAN BURIALS IN STATE TO RUN 500 PER MONTH

In October, our World War II dead will start arriving in the States for burial. Over 9,000 will be returned to Michigan in compliance with the wishes of the next of kin. Of that number approximately 6,000 will be buried in the Detroit area, at the approximate rate of 500 a month. A recent survey indicates that many families will want private funerals for their loved ones. Others will want military funerals, with attendant military honors.

Every single veteran's organization in the State has willingly agreed to furnish personnel to render military honors when so requested. The veterans' organizations consider it their patriotic duty to pay honors to our fallen heroes.

Many men, members of the veterans' organizations, must be released for an afternoon occasionally, by their employers if the veterans are to do their sad duty. Is it any less a patriotic duty of the employer to release employee-veterans to render final military honors to our departed comrades when the occasion arises?

Legumes Need Plant Food to Do Job of Rebuilding Soils

CHICAGO—Legumes as a recipe for enriching the soil and adding to its resources of organic matter were recommended by the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee.

"But," says a statement issued here by the committee, "legumes cannot do the job of fertility replenishment by themselves. They must have reinforcements in the form of plant foods containing nitrogen, phosphorus and potash.

"Some farmers think that because they raise alfalfa or clover they are sure to keep up the fertility of their land. As a matter of fact, alfalfa is a heavy feeder on plant foods.

"Tests have proved that the continued removal of alfalfa hay actually leaves the soil with less fertility, regardless of the fact that alfalfa is a nitrogen-fixing legume.

"Alfalfa's soil-enriching function must be aided by good management measures that include the regular application of commercial fertilizer to replenish essential elements removed by the crop."

Many Famines in Russia

Records of famine in Russia go back as far as 1024. It is reported that from the year 1100 to 1600, an average of seven famines occurred each century. The 19th century was marked by 12 famines. At the time of the Bolshevik revolution of 1917 the majority of peasant cultivators in Russia were actually in worse condition than under serfdom. After the emancipation there was a steady decrease in the amount of land per peasant, and great numbers were entirely without land.

The first telegraph service in South America was established between Santiago and Valparaiso, June 20, 1852.

Scotland Is a Country of Traditions and Legends

Scotland is a legendary land of heather, moors, rocky crags, sinuous lochs, bold mountains and cliffs, Mary, Queen of Scots, MacBeth, Robert Bruce, grouse shooting, kilts and bagpipes.

The Scots, Picts, British and Angles got together early in the 11th century to set up the first Kingdom of Scotland and from then on until the union with England early in the 18th century, Scotland was no place for a peaceful man. Wars clouded the centuries, particularly bloody struggles with England, then in the heavy role of villain.

Formerly known (and still known poetically) as Caledonia, Scotland comprises in the main three principal regions—the Highlands, central Lowlands and the southern Uplands. The country's greatest length totals 274 miles; breadth, 154 miles. There are about 2,300 miles of coastline, and because of deeply penetrating lochs, little of the land is more than 40 miles from salt water.

Under the act of union in 1707, the parliament in London absorbed the Scottish parliament. But Scotland has a sizable representation in London and its group of parliamentarians is a sensitive and cohesive one when interests of the homeland are threatened. There remains until this day in Scotland a separatist movement which holds out for a return to the old days.

Early Fertilization Law

State fertilizer control laws have been enforced in the United States for nearly 75 years. The first materials used as fertilizers include animal manures, wood ashes, bones, fish, guano, wool waste, chalk and marl. Nitrogen gives a dark green color to plants.

HIGH SCHOOL GRADS GIVEN CHOICE OF SCHOOLS IN ARMY

The U. S. Army has inaugurated a program in which graduates of high schools may attend the Army Training School of their choice, announced Colonel Walter C. Cole, Commanding Officer of the Michigan Recruiting District.

Any high school graduate, before enlisting, may make application for the training school of his choice, and, if eligible and qualified to enlist in the Army, will be sent to the school for training.

There are over 50 schools available, including Armored School, Field Artillery School, Signal School, Transportation School, Engineer School, and many others, with varied courses of training offered in each school.

At the completion of the school which the applicant has been authorized to attend, he will be assigned in accordance with the normal procedures governing the assignment of other school trained personnel.

This training is available to both veterans and non-veterans, providing the person is a high school graduate or has the equivalent of a high school education.

Application blanks and further information may be obtained from the U. S. Army and Air Force Recruiting Station at 53½ W. Huron St., Pontiac Michigan. Phone 4-6342.

First Cows in America

When Christopher Columbus came to America there were no cows, but on his second voyage in 1495, he brought cattle and other farm animals to the islands of the West Indies. The first U. S. cows were brought over to the Jamestown colony in 1611. The few cows that arrived at the Plymouth colony in 1624 really marked the beginning of the American dairy industry.

Alfalfa Yield

High yields of alfalfa result from the extensive root system, the volume of soil in which the alfalfa feeds and the long growing period.
