KEITH JOHNSON MEMORIAL AWARD VOTES ARE CAST

Although the winner of the Keith Johnson Memorial Award will not be announced until Senior Swing-out in June, the seniors and faculty cast their final vote this week. Selection was made early this year so that the 1947 winner could be photographed for the year book.

According to the instructions left by the class of which Keith was a member, the selection is to be based upon these qualifications: co-operation, dependability, initiative, courtesy, leadership, promptness, honesty, giving the other fellow his due, clean habits, stability, and scholarship. The method of election is (1) nomination of three candidates by faculty (2) election by vote from seniors and faculty, with seniors adding the names of deserving candidates if they feel the faculty has overlooked anyone.

Faculty nominations were Pat Every, Marge Hunt, Lee Lathrup, and Marge Young. Each faculty member named two in order of preference. Normally three candidates are submitted to the seniors for voting. However, since three were tied for second place four names were listed this year.

MEXICAN CUSTOMS HAVE INVADED SPANISH CLASS

Anyone passing by the Spanish class last Friday might well stop and take a second look at the rather unusual sight of the students of that class sucking lollipops.

Assigned to four minute dialogues, three ingenious students dangled a Mexican "pinata" from the ceiling. According to custom, this is some sort of container, decorated and filled with goodies, to be broken in a game. The blindfolded Spanish instructor, Miss Margaret Ling, shattered the red and white sack, causing lollipops and hard candies to scatter to the floor with a wild scramble ensuing.

Although not a customary part of the class room program, the pupils much enjoyed this diversion. M.E.P.

Women Amazons Amaze Onlookers

Two girls, Florence Wallace and Carolyn Early, hit the pin on the head, literally, with the high score of 181 and 174, respectively, for a single game two weeks ago. Topnotchers for three combined games last week were Florence Wallace, Velma Goers and Josephine Brodel. Team standings have not yet been published because of unsettled averages.

On account of the varied activities of the girls the teams have decreased from eight to six. M.V.

Teachers Form "Coffee Club"

The "Coffee Hags," better known as the "Blue and White" staff, and Mr. Olson have formed a club for the encouragement of coffee drinking.

Mr. Olson is chairman of the board; Mr. Olson is manager, and Mr. Mattala is the ever important consumer.

In order to raise funds for the coffee, a paper plate was placed in one of the rooms. An income of thirty cents one day and fourteen cents another aided in the financing.

The worthy consumer not only consumed, Friday night he bought eight cups of coffee for various friends at the Falcon's Nest. M.Y.

CAREFUL GROWING METHODS INCREASE POTATO YIELDS

Why some farmers get unusually high potato yields is told by D. L. Clannahan, Michigan State college farm crops specialist for the upper peninsula. He says that 25 years of potato growing contests sponsored by MSC's extension service has provided these important facts about potato growing:

During the first 12 years, an average of 25 growers qualified annually for the "300 bushel award". During the last 13 years, an average of 127 growers qualified for the high honor.

In 1924 a Manistee grower, E. Parmelee became the first producer of a crop averaging more than 500 bushels to the acre. Such yields are now common. Yields of 600 and 700 bushels are among the top, and last year, Frank Falties, Beloit county, produced nearly 800 bushels to the acre.

Contest entrants consistently produce three to four times greater average yields than the average Michigan potato farmer.

Nearly 85 per cent of the contestants have used certified seed. Preparation of the soil is an essential factor in success.

High yields usually come from crops planted in soil which had alfalfa, clover or grass soil turned under. Commercial fertilizer increased yields greatly.

Proper and adequate spraying throughout the season seems essential for high yields.

Although the number of Michigan farmers raising potatoes has shown a marked decrease, those specializing in the business have increased acreage and yields an acre in recent years.

NOTED PIANIST HIGHLIGHTS SYMPHONY

Appearing February fifth and sixth with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, Guillermo Novas, phenomenal Brazilian pianist, performed the Saint Saens Concerto in G Minor. Six curtain calls followed her brilliant performance.

Known as a child prodigy, Miss Novas later studied in Paris under the distinctive tutelage of Isidor Philipe. Concertizing since then, both in the United States and Europe, she has often been hailed by the critics as the world's greatest woman pianist. Notable among her discoveries is Claudio Arau, now internationally known Chilean pianist.

The concert opened with the Holberg Suite by Grieg. Also performed was the Allegretto from the Symphony No. 7 by Beethoven in remembrance of Hubert Andrus, violinist in the symphony who recently passed away. Following the intermission, Dr. Krueger took his place on the podium to direct the Symphony No. 5 by Tchaikovsky. Always a great favorite, this inspired work was received with admirable enthusiasm by the audience. J.B.T.
