While gasoline is one of the most common fuels, it is extremely dangerous if not handled and used correctly. MSC farm safety specialist Fred Roth points out that the safest storage is underground. If this is not possible, it should be used from an approved tank in the open or in a special building at least 50 feet from other buildings.

Every day adds greater proof... THIS IS THE WAY TO HEAT YOUR HOME

READ THE NEWSPAPER HEADLINES. Listen to the radio commentators. Check the statements of Government officials. Think back to your own experience in two world wars, countless "emergencies," repeated shortages. Best of all — look at your own home thermometer, and at your fuel bills.

How much more proof do you need that plentiful COAL, burned in properly maintained modern coal stokers and furnaces, is still the best known way to heat your home?

IF YOU NOW USE COAL

Remember that you are wasting part of coal's tremendous heat-production if your heating equipment is worn out, outmoded, unfit to do its job. Modern coal heating units—automatic bio-fuel or hopper-fed stokers, automatic controls for hand-fired furnaces, the new improved furnaces themselves—are the most efficient, economical and trouble-free in history. There are countless types to choose from, in abundant supply, and you can have them installed in a few hours without even interrupting your heat.

If you are due for a heating-plant replacement or modernization, why put it off any longer? Why not have the advantages of efficient, fuel-saving new equipment right away—this winter, as well as during the winters to come? Your local coal merchant, in cooperation with your local coal heating equipment dealer, will help you choose wisely the type of unit, best suited to your needs; your new stoker, furnace or automatic controls can be installed promptly.

IF YOU DO NOT NOW USE COAL

Consider whether your present fuel gives you the all-round satisfaction enjoyed by your neighbor who burns coal. Consider whether the few extra square feet needed for coal storage, the mere five or ten minutes daily needed for servicing modern automatic coal-burning equipment, is too great a price to pay for the matchless dependability, economy and comfort of uninterrupted coal heat.

If you are not acquainted with the great advances made over the past decade in coal's cleanliness and convenience, through modern processing, delivery and combustion techniques, your local coal retailer will be glad to bring you up to date. He will also be glad to give you—courteously and without obligation—any information that interests you relative to conversion to coal and coal equipment. His counsel will be expert and dependable—for either he handles coal heating equipment himself or cooperates closely with your local coal heating equipment retailer.

Another reason for installation of coal heating equipment is Coal Heating Service's maintenance of 24 hour emergency service for furnaces and stokers. Call your local coal merchant first—if he has no facilities, call the night, Sunday and holiday number CHERRY 4331.
