OCCUPATIONAL GUIDES RELEASED THROUGH MUCC

An increase in trained personnel in many of today's skilled trades is seen as a potential result of a new program just being completed by the Michigan Unemployment Compensation Commission.
A series of some 200 occupational guides, to aid youth or poorly adjusted workers to determine the type of occupation to which they are best suited has been planned, and the first five printed volumes have been completed. Others will follow shortly. James F. Moore, Executive Director of the MUCC announced recently.
These guides cover the vocations of barber, refrigeration serviceman, office machine serviceman, stationary engineer and optometrist. They and others in the series have been the outgrowth of intensive field work by the occupational experts of the MUCC, with the cooperation of employers in the industry, unions and schools. The final draft of each guide has been reviewed for technical accuracy by authorities in the field it covers.
The guides contain local (Detroit) information about wages, hours, methods of entry and conditions of employment in these occupations. They will be used primarily by the school system, vocational counselors, unions, the Employment Service of the MUCC, and city planning and vocational groups.
Although the first guides in the series will deal primarily with job conditions in the Detroit Area, Moore pointed out that the significance and importance of the Detroit labor market will make these applicable throughout the state. Plans are also being completed to include occupations in industries which do not occur around Detroit though they are significant out-state. These may include such industries as logging, metal-mining and the paper industry of Kalamazoo. Supplements will be issued periodically to cover changes in local conditions, he added.
The occupational guides, Moore said, were prepared in response to requests for vocational information from schools, personnel counselors, unions, employers and city planning groups. They are the first to be devoted to a study of the opportunities and possibilities of employment in specific occupations in the Detroit Area, the MUCC Director said.
As interested agencies became aware of the fact-finding program, they requested copies of the manual for their own use. These requests, in addition to the need for such information in the Employment Service, led the Michigan Unemployment Compensation Commission to set up facilities to continue the development of localized occupational guides.
The booklets will be released periodically in groups until the series is completed. Among the pamphlets scheduled for production soon are those dealing with the following occupations: radio repairman, plumbing, chiropractic, watchmaker, the printing trades, chemistry, pharmacy, and stenography.
All the guides will be available to the public as soon as completed, at the State Administrative Office of the MUCC at 7310 Woodward Avenue, Detroit, and at the local MUCC offices.

Which were you in 1947?

"I AM ONE of 1,200,000 Michigan Bell customers. In 1947 we bought more telephone service than ever before. And the rates we paid were the same or lower than they were ten years ago. We made 10% more local calls and 8% more long distance calls than in 1946. We got better, faster service. By the end of the year there were 133,000 more Bell telephones in Michigan than we could call. So our own telephones became more valuable to us—and will become even more valuable when the thousands who are waiting for telephones get them."

"I AM ONE of more than 730,000 people whose savings, invested in Bell System securities, provide money for building the telephone system. That makes me an investor in Michigan Bell. Millions of others have invested in the telephone business indirectly through their savings accounts or insurance policies with institutions owning Bell securities. Although Michigan Bell took in 6% more money than in 1946, the cost of providing service rose 13%. And Michigan Bell earned only 3 8/10c last year on each of our dollars invested in the business. This is less than a fair return and offers us little incentive for investing additional money needed to expand and improve service. So it's a good thing Michigan Bell has asked for an increase in telephone rates to assure us a fair return."

LOOKING AHEAD: Michigan Bell fully expects to supply a continually improving service to the public... good jobs for thousands of employees, with plenty of opportunity for advancement in a growing business... and a reasonable return to those whose savings are invested in the business.
