Los Angeles Drive Seeks Full Value From Sunshine Los Angeles county has started a comprehensive anti-smog program to insure residents getting full value from the California sunshine.

Agricultural Public Works association reports that an air pollution authority has been appointed with broad powers to enforce anti-smog regulations throughout the county as well as inside the City of Los Angeles.

Like other metropolitan cities, Los Angeles' smog and smoke problem is aggravated by fumes from outside city jurisdiction. Experts agree that smog control is most effective if tackled on a county-wide or regional basis.

State legislation passed earlier this year made possible creation of the Los Angeles air pollution authority. County-wide smog control also was authorized by state action this year for Milwaukee and Pittsburg.

Los Angeles authority has powers to license all plants in the county which generate noxious fumes, excepting private homes. Licenses will be issued only after eliminating equipment is installed. To curb home-created fumes, trash-burning schedules are being drawn up which will take advantage of regularly shifting winds.

Revocation of operating licenses rather than fines will be the penalty for industrial violators of anti-smog regulations. A new, privately built incinerator designed to burn industrial wastes with a minimum of smoke is being tested by the city.

Barracks Built at Plywood Barracks at Noma and elsewhere along Alaska's coast were built of plywood with the walls shipped north in sections. At Ft. Belknap, more than a million square feet of fir plywood was used for barracks and other camp buildings.

LEGION TEAM CHECKS SPONSOR'S LATEST

Boys Play Big-League Style Ball Under Legion-Ford Sponsorship

Boys and baseball are getting a boost right here in Farmington in the newly organized American Legion Junior Baseball team. Sponsored by the Smith-Berling Company, local Ford dealers, the team is composed of boys 17 years old or younger. The team is part of a nationally-organized American Legion baseball program, and has uniforms, balls, bats and gloves by Smith-Berling.

Designed to create an interesting and worthwhile use of spare time during the school vacations, the program is run by the American Legion and the Ford dealer sponsors throughout the country. This is Farmington's first year in the league since the war.

Manager of the team is Jack Brewington, 2124 Middlebelt Road, who has been working for some time with Charles Larson, 22130 Cora, business and publicity director. Brewington said he was well satisfied with the team's present record of one win and three losses since this is the first season the team has played together. Also, the opposing teams had all been in the league and played together previously, he said.

Babe Ruth, uncontested king of the sport, had long been an ardent supporter of the junior league. "The Babe" will be at Briggs Stadium in July to attend the Legion all-star game, along with leading Detroit Tigers players, according to Mike Berling, co-owner of the Smith-Berling company.

The all-star team will be made up of outstanding players from this district, which includes Oakland and Wayne Counties. A tournament schedule on a national scale has been drawn up by the American Legion so that every Foreign Nations Promote Postwar Air Development While the United States government is studying pros and cons of promoting aviation's growth, reports from many foreign countries show that they are active, as a commercial as well as a defense measure.

Among the countries already embarked on broad programs to develop their air potentials are Britain, Canada, France, Russia, Czechoslovakia, Italy, Denmark, Sweden, the Netherlands, Belgium, Uruguay, Argentina, Peru, Brazil, Chile, China, Australia, the Philippine Republic and New Zealand.

On the question of how much emphasis should be given to aviation research, "British" has established an Air Research Council, reorganized in 1946, put Sir Henry Tizard, a leading air authority, in charge of all research. Britain also has taken initiative toward standardizing her air weapons and munitions to U. S. sizes and patterns.

Russia has announced a five-year research program, aimed primarily at aviation, to cost hundreds of millions of rubles.

On the question of government support for personal flying activities-movies arriving in 1947 show "Eastern European states now provide night training to civilians. South American countries long have subsidized flying clubs.

SOCIAL SECURITY OFFICIAL MAKES FARMINGTON VISITS

A representative of the Pontiac office of the Social Security Administration is now making regular visits to Farmington. It is at the City Offices the 3rd Thursday of each month from 1:00 p.m. to 2:30 p.m. This is a busy month, at least insofar as the Social Security Administration is concerned. Rex Atwood, manager of the Pontiac office which serves Oakland and Macomb counties, pointed out that this is the period in which new businesses are established, new employees enter the labor market, and girls get married.

Asked to elaborate, he stated that the new businesses considered of the usual number of permanent firms being established plus a host of seasonal enterprises. Atwood reminded that any employer of one or more, in commerce, trade, or industry, must make quarterly reports of the wages he pays to his employees. This is true even though the business is seasonal and the employees work only part of the time.

The new employees entering the labor market are largely high school students. Some, however, are men and women customarily engaged in employment not covered by social security. Atwood strongly advised that these people secure their account number cards before they go to work since most employers refuse to place people on the job before they can produce a social security card. If one has an account number but the card has been mislaid or lost, he should secure a duplicate at once. Application forms are available at the local post office.

The brides present a different problem. Most of the girls already have social security cards. It is very important that our records be changed to show the new name. Immediately after her marriage she should report the change to the local social security office. Changes of name, as well as original or duplicate account numbers, can be handled by mail as easily as by a personal call.

After the Regional battles the top team from the Seventh Region will go to Sioux City, Iowa, to fight for the Sectional crown August 29, 30 and 31. Farmington is in Section C, which includes the entire Midwest.

The next step in the well-organized playoff schedule is the final one, when all Sectional champs gather at Indianapolis, Indiana, on September 6, 7, 8, 9 and 10 to determine the national champions. From the scope of this schedule as organized by the American Legion it is apparent that the team that goes all the way to end the national crown at the end of the season has proven its worth beyond a doubt, and really deserves the honor.

Farmington's Junior Legion team has just begun its fight for a place in the league, and too much cannot be expected in the first season. But with the proper support plus the natural drive of boys with a common team spirit it won't be many seasons before we can expect to see Farmington's boys engaging in the final playoff tournaments.
