

These Boys Represent Farmington In Legion League

Martindale, coach; Gazely, J. Plum, Bates, Rudberg, Ditchfield, Schofer, coach, and Mike Berling. Kneeling, Thompson, Bunge, D. Hansen, C. Markham, Robinson, Nicholson and Olson. Just visible above the sign is Robert Markham, official ballboy, mascot and water boy. Competitive sports of this nature teach young men better sportsmanship and clean living.

It has always been the ambition of the American Legion to promote activities to make better citizens of the up and coming generation.

Through the cooperation of the American Legion Department of Michigan, the Districts and the individual Posts, the Junior Baseball League is carried on throughout the State.

The goal of each team is to have the honor of competing in the State Championships in Flint at the end of the season. Each year this summer recreation is made possible by the American Legion in cooperation with various sponsors who contribute uniforms and equipment.

To date, the Farmington team has won 4, lost 3. The competition is keen, but their interest is great. All credit for a successful year is due to Jack Brewington, the Junior Baseball Chairman of the Post. Jack has worked hard with these boys and spent considerable time and effort to teach them better sportsmanship.
