LUCKY JINGLERS

As first prize winner of a long 1948 DeSoto in the American Sweepstakes, a national jingle contest sponsored by the American Burlington Business, Mrs. Adepts Murphy, of Columbus, Ohio, has reason for her smiles as she accepts the title to the car (top picture) from Professor J. L. Lanson, Assistant to the President of Ohio University. Others witnessing the award are Mr. James Wilson on the left and Mr. Elmer W. Hinkelman of the busline, far right. In the lower picture, second prize winner Mrs. Harvey B. Richards of Lake Bluff, Illinois, is presented with two tickets to Switzerland by Mr. John Burton Tiggett, executive vice president of American Burlington Business. Albert Grueter, Consul of Switzerland, points to his country, which she will visit.

Farmington Area Playground Notes

WILLIAM GRACE
By John Jacobs
The Farmington Recreation is doing a fine job on the activities it sponsors for the children such as games and getting the children acquainted with each other. Last week at William Grace we had a horse shoe tournament for both girls and boys in singles and doubles. This week we had a croquet tournament and John Jacobs and Wayne Dryden are the doubles champion. The singles winner is John Jacobs and Larry Lynch is the runner up.

Today all the children were taken to Farmington. The Nidget Ball team played baseball and the little ones played in the pool. There will be other trips to Farmington to the wading pool for the next five weeks on Mondays and Wednesdays.

This is the last week at William Grace but we will be at Noble for the next four weeks.

Lois is sure doing a fine job watching and teaching these youngsters a lot of games.

Don't forget the trip to Cedar Point on Wednesday, July 28. Tickets are on sale at the playground. The trip is for children and adults.

So let's get together and make a croquet trip to Cedar Point and play a bigger and better one for the children next year.

BOND PLAYGROUND
By Nancy Gamble
This is your Bond Playground reporter reporting on the activities of the past week.

Announcing the winners of the various tournaments — Horse shoes — Dick Gamble, boys' winner.

Ann Clappison, girls' winner. Croquet — Donald Andreasson, playground champion.

In a baseball game at Farmington from his purchase agreement and thereby take advantage of the price increase. If the market goes down below the level of the loan rate, the farmer may hold his grain for delivery to CCC at the loan rate, thereby taking advantage of the price increase.

The farmer signing a purchase agreement must pay a service fee of 1 cent per bushel for each bushel under loan, of $3.00, whichever is greater. For warehouse-stored grain under loan, the fee is the same as under the purchase agreement. However, there is no interest charge connected with the purchase agreement program whereas under the loan program, the farmer who stores his grain under loan must pay a 3 percent interest charge in addition to the service fee.

Purchase agreements can be executed at the County AAA office anytime between harvest and December 31, 1948. The office is located at 220 Hubbard Building, Pontiac and is open from 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday and closed all day Saturday.

St. Augustine
Juan Ponce de Leon stepped ashore at what is now St. Augustine, Fla., on the morning of April 8, 1565, and took possession of the country for his Spanish king. On September 8, 1565, Don Pedro Menendez de Avila beat ground for the first permanent settlement — and narrow Avila street, through the heart of present-day St. Augustine, stands as a monument to that original settler.

Obituaries

Mrs. Edith W. Drake
Mrs. Edith W. Drake, wife of Francis Drake, of 3642 Elm Street, Farmington Township, passed away suddenly on Sunday morning, July 18. Mrs. Drake was born June 7, 1907, in Bad Axe, Michigan, the daughter of Gustave and Douglas Krueger.

She came to Farmington about fifteen years ago, and had been a teacher in the Farmington Elementary Schools for several years, and was teaching in the Keeler School in the Redford Union School System prior to her death.

Funeral services were held Wednesday, July 21, at 11:30 a.m. from the Thayer Funeral home with the Christian Science reader, Mrs. Lilian Smith, officiating. Another service was held Wednesday at 2:30 p.m. from the Presbyterian Church in Bad Axe, Michigan. Burial was in the Colfax Cemetery at Bad Axe.

Surviving besides her husband are a daughter, Miss Jeanne Keyes Drake, of St. Louis, Mo., and two sons, Colgar of Bad Axe and Mrs. Myrtle Colgan of Elkton, Michigan, and a brother, Alfred Krueger of Bad Axe.

Baby Boy Pare
Baby Boy Pare, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. George Pare of 17631 Evergreen Avenue, Detroit, passed away on Tuesday evening in New Grace Hospital in Detroit. The baby is at the Thayer Funeral Home until Friday morning when burial will take place in the North Farmington Cemetery.

FARMINGTON MEN TAKE TWO WEEKS ACTIVE NAVY DUTY

Two Farmington men have reported to the Grossle Island naval station for two weeks active training duty. It was announced by Captain C. S. Cooper, commanding officer of the Island base.

Ensign John W. Olson, 26, 32720 Wilmie, and Wallace N. Metcalf, 17, 12521 Middlebelt, a seaman recruit, are members of Carrier Air Group 63 in the Naval Air Reserve at Groesbe.

Olson, a wartime naval aviator, is now a dive bomber pilot in the Air Group and Metcalf, who joined the Naval Reserve last January, is studying to be a Navy photographer.

During their training duty they will take intensive refresher courses and will fly in Navy combat planes on tactical training missions.

Sorting Out Feathers
Chicken feathers not only are being used for stuffing pillows, but also are being spun into newly developed feather fibers. A method has been devised for sorting chicken feathers so that they may be graded for different uses. Working on the theory that the feather a feather, the higher it will rise in a current of air, the feathers are chopped and placed in a vertical tower up which they are blown. The feathers are collected at different heights, being separated into grades by the weight of their quills and the amount of fluff. The controllability of the moisture and the upward speed of the blast of air makes it possible to separate a mixed lot of feathers into six grades. The graded feathers can be blended, any exact need by mixing the various grades.
