SPECIALLY FOR HAY FEVER VICTIMS

Nearly half of Michigan is free of ragweed pollen in any irritating quantities. Automobile Club of Michigan's travel manager Harry Rogan pointed out to hay fever sufferers today.

Unshaded areas of the map above contain all portions of the state where pollen count in 1947 was consistently low. Lightly shaded areas offer relief to those whose hay fever allergy is relatively mild. Heavily shaded areas in 1947 had large concentrations of ragweed pollen. Michigan State Health Department has conducted extensive research on pollen counts.

How far from darkly shaded areas victims have to go for relief can be determined only by experiment, Rogan stated. High on the list of spots recommended for sufferers are St. Ignace, Sault Ste. Marie, Cheboygan, Charlevoix and Rogers City. All these cities had total State Health Department pollen counts of less than 1,000 last year.

Other cities with counts totalling less than 1,500 (comparatively strong relief) were: Potosky, Alcona, Traverse City, Houghton, Mackinac Island, Isle Royale, Manistique and Munising.

Ragweed season begins about August 15 and continues to bother hay fever victims until the first heavy frost, usually about the last of September in much of Michigan. Wooded areas, seashores and mountains seem to have the most relief. Auto Club advised. The

Making Pottery Calls for Skill
Of the 67,000 workers in Britain's pottery industry, more than half are women. While most work in modern factories, with rows of identical dishes or pots marching along the assembly line, it is still a highly skilled art. Unfettered by mass production, the pottery artists still draw their inspiration from English trees and flowers. Their more expensive wares are still laboriously painted free-style, with rich ground colors. A plate or cup is fired, color is dusted on, and the oil burns away on firing.

COMMISSIONER
(Non Partisan)

Cecil McCallum is a fair and impartial Pontiac attorney, educated at the University of Michigan and Detroit College of Law, with fifteen years experience in trial work, and is well qualified for the office of Circuit Court Commissioner. He deserves your vote!

The present Pontiac Commissioner has held the Pontiac office for 12 consecutive years and that is long enough! Before he was elected, in 1936, he claimed no attorney should be allowed to hold this office longer than eight years; now he has held it for 12 years and wants 14. It is time for a change—ask your own attorney!
