Buildings, Study Shows (Continued from Page Two) rely, these utilities asked a total of $40,000,000 additional income. In addition to the high focast of doing business, utilities are forced by long-established policy to expand their service whenever the public demands more service. Private in-dustry would put off expansion, if prices were out of line. Utilities can't delay installation of tele-phooes, laying of gas mains, gen-erating plants, and so on. Michigan Bell, for example, is now expanding its telephone serv-using state of $12,000,000. Con-sumers and Detroit Edison are bor-rowing $100,00,000 each.
