Testing Improves Dairy Herd

Keeping good cows is wise in the dairy business — every farmer knows that. County agricultural agent Karl D. Bailey, states that production testing will help farmers to discover their high producers and their low producers.

According to word received from Larry Johnson, dairy extension specialist at Michigan State college, dairy herd improvement associations, or DHIA, is the most numerous form of testing being done in Michigan. At present, 45,000 cows in 117 associations are being tested. A DHIA is merely a group of farmers organized as a unit so that they can hire a tester to visit each herd once a month. While at the farm, the tester weighs, samples, and tests the milk from each cow. He figures the monthly production and feed cost record which he enters in a herd book for the owner's information.

Cows on DHIA test in Michigan last year averaged 3,609 pounds of milk and 346 pounds of butterfat. Census figures, on the other hand, show that the average Michigan cow produced about 3,000 pounds of milk and 220 pounds of butterfat. These figures show that the DHIA cow excels her average sister by quite a bit.

A three-way benefit comes to the farmer who is in DHIA. First, he can recognize low producers and cull them; second, he can recognize his best animals and feed them more wisely for higher production; third, he can select future replacements out of his best cows.

ALDEN GREENS ENTERTAIN FOR INDIANA VISITOR

Mr. and Mrs. Alden Green entertained at their home on Sunday, at a turkey dinner, honoring Mrs. Arthur McCracken of Walpole, Indiana, on her birthday anniversary. This was the first time in nine years that Mrs. McCracken has been in Farmington to visit relatives here.

The dinner table was covered with a linen cloth, and centered by an arrangement of broeze chrysanthemums and pink daisies with tall green tapers on either side. Two birthday cakes were decorated in yellow.

Guests at the dinner included Mr. and Mrs. Harry McCracken, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hewitt, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Green and sons, George and Jim, all of Farmington, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Green of Walpole Lake.

On Sunday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hewitt and children Tommy, Bob and Judy, of Birmingham, called at the Greens home. Mrs. McCracken was showered with many lovely gifts and cards of congratulations.

Enlistments Closed To Draft Inductees

Cpl. Royal L. McCormick, Army Recruiting officer in Farmington, has announced that, effective immediately, all persons who have received their notice to report for pre-induction physical examination are ineligible for enlistment in the U. S. Army or the U. S. Air Force. Cpl. McCormick suggested that possible draftees enlist at the local recruiting office to avoid being drafted. He pointed out that periods of enlistment for one year are for the 18-to-25 age group, while youths of 17 to 35 can enlist for periods of 21 months, or two, three, four, five or six years. Any enlistment for a period of less than three years would mean that the enlistee would have to join a reserve unit for an additional five year period.

Cpl. McCormick recommended that anyone interested in any technical school see him at the local recruiting office located in the Farmington Municipal building, or call him at Farmington 0483.

Early Hatches Give Poultrymen Extra Profits

Increasing numbers of poultrymen are turning to early hatched pullets as a means of increasing their poultry income by getting more eggs during the high-price summer months.

J. G. Wells, Jr., superintendent of the Michigan State College Experiment Station, credits the poultry management plan devised by J. M. Moore, MSC extension poultryman, with the increase in poultry income. Since the demand for eggs reaches its height during the July and August tourist season and the problem is one of getting more eggs at that time, they set out to hatch baby chicks early enough so they would get into production when eggs were needed.

Records last year showed that the January hatched pullets gave a production of 83 eggs per bird in the high price season (July and December), while the March hatched pullets gave only 44 eggs per bird.

January brooding, Moore points out, is best done in a stationary brooder house that will accommodate 400 chicks. This number best suits economical operation. When the chicks are well feathered out in April, they can be put out in the summer shelters and carried through until they are put back in the laying house in June or July. Moore urges farmers who are interested in early hatched chicks to get in touch with their county agricultural agent who can furnish more complete details on the technique.

NOBLE TROOP 16 GIRL SCOUTS ENJOY NUT HUNT

On Saturday, October 16, Intermediate Girl Scouts of Troop 16 from the Noble District had their first outing of the year, which was a nut hunt.

The troop invited the Brownies from Troop 5 who are flying up to be Scout troop, to be with them. The nut hunt was held at the Boys' Republic Glen, and from there they hiked to the home of Mrs. Runyon on Waldron where they had a picnic and marshmallow roast.

Although the sun didn't shine and the squirrels had already collected the most and the best of the nuts, all agreed it was a perfect day. The outing was planned by Mrs. Runyon, committee woman, with Mrs. Hallock, also a member of the committee, and Mrs. Spiller, leader, in attendance.

1 1/2 Billion Dollar Road Block!

RAILROADS MUST OPERATE around the clock every day and night of the year. Although they know this, leaders of 16 railroad unions are demanding a five-day, Monday through Friday, week for one million railroad employees.

They want 48 hours pay for 40 hours work — in itself a 20% wage increase.

They also demand a minimum of 12 hours pay for any work performed on Saturdays, and 16 hours pay for any work performed on Sundays and holidays.

On top of all this they want an additional increase of 25c an hour for every employee!

You'd Pay the Bill!

Summing up these demands, they mean that these union leaders seek to force the railroads to give one million employees an annual raise which would average $1500 per employee!

The total cost of this would be no less than 114 billion dollars per year, which is more than twice the expected net income of the railroads this year.

You'd pay the bill, because if these increased costs are forced on the railroads, they must have still further rate and fare increases.

Demands Unreasonable

These employees have had substantial raises during and since the war. Their average weekly earnings are higher than the average weekly earnings of workers in manufacturing industries. They have more job security than the average worker in American industry. They also enjoy paid vacations, a retirement system and other advantages more generous than the average worker receives.

In contrast with the demands of these 16 unions, which add up to the equivalent of 48c an hour, the Conductors and Trainmen recently settled their wage request for an increase of 10c an hour.

Railroads Run for Everybody — Not Employees Alone

The railroad industry must serve not one but many groups — producers, businessmen, shippers, passengers and the general public — night and day, every day of the year. These unions are proceeding in utter disregard of this important difference between railroads and other industries. Industrial plants can be shut down over weekends and holidays, but freight, mail, express and passengers must continue to move. Everybody who enters railroad employment knows this.

Strike Threat On September 18, 1948, the leaders of these 16 unions began taking a strike vote. But the threat of a strike will not alter the opposition of the railroads to such unreasonable demands!
