

MRS. FRANK KLING ENTERTAINS FARM BUREAU WOMEN

The Oakland County Farm Bureau Women met at the home of Mrs. Frank Kling, 425 Haggerty Road, Tuesday, November 16 with 22 members present. A potluck lunch was served and business meeting followed.

The project of the month was a Christmas party for polio patients at the Contagious Hospital, Pontiac, with a gift for everyone and a Christmas tree. Ice cream and cake were served.

Salvage was brought to the meeting for the Walled Lake group, who make cancer pads twice a month. They also make hospital coats.

The Lake Orion group donated $25.00 for the polio fund.

A chairman was elected to take care of ideas for next year's poster, ideas are to be brought to the monthly meeting. Mrs. Dewey Stover was appointed chairman.

A kick-off dinner was planned for the new membership drive in January, with the men furnishing the main item, "meat" and the women the trimmings and work. The dinner is to be held in Waterford. The next meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. Ray Howard, 37995 Halsted Road, Farmington.

Forage Poisoning

Cattle are less susceptible to forage poisoning than horses, because the compartment-like digestive system of cattle tends to subdue the poisonous properties of some feeds.

WAC Officer School Now Open For Women

Highly qualified young women in Farmington between the ages of 19 and 28 now may apply for on-leave in the Army specifically to attend the Women's Army Corps Officer Candidate School, Corporal Royal L. McCormick, of the Farmington Army Recruiting Station, announced today.

Upon successful completion of the six-month course at Camp Lee, Virginia, Corporal McCormick explained, distinguished graduates will be considered for appointment as second lieutenants in the Regular Army. Other graduates will be appointed second lieutenants in the Organized Reserve Corps. These officers may be placed on competitive tours for one year, and, if qualified, may be considered for appointment in the Regular Army.

Officers commissioned will serve at least two years of active duty.

"Civilian women who enlist for OCS and fail to complete the course," Cpl. McCormick continued, "may be separated from the Army upon request. Civilian applicants who have not had basic training or its equivalent at some time previous to application, are given basic training before starting the OCS course. Such candidates hold the grade of sergeant during the basic training period."

To qualify for enlistment for OCS, applicants must be citizens of the United States, have two years' accredited college education, be between the ages of 19 and 28 at the time of reporting to OCS, be single, and pass certain screening tests before an OCS board. Those who do not possess the college minimum, but who are otherwise exceptionally qualified, may establish eligibility to apply by passing an appropriate Army educational examination.

Michigan poultrymen who attend the annual turkey show and festival at Alma on December 7 and 8 are promised an outstanding event.

Extension poultrymen at Michigan State college, are cooperating with the Alma Chamber of Commerce in sponsoring the event.

Featured speaker at the turkey show will be Dr. Cliff D. Carpenter, Chicago, president of the American Poultry Industries. He will discuss turkey production and marketing.

A turkey festival program may be secured by writing to the Alma Chamber of Commerce or the Poultry Department, Michigan State College, East Lansing, Michigan.
