mixed with first-class and third class mail. The mail from each pouch, of course, has to be sorted four times - first to separate the city mail from the rural mail, and then to separate the city delivered mail from the boxholders' mail. For this reason, some of our first class mail delivery is falling behind.

Ordinarily the local office employs 37 food workers. This last week, 37 people could hardly handle the tremendous load - handicapped as they were for working room.

Lee was outspoken in his praise of the extra parcel post room in the Town Hall donated by the Township Board.
