Play "Tom Sawyer" Proves To Be Hit

Houselights dim; audience hushed — the curtain goes up; the show begins.

From the opening scene to the finale, the Detroit Civic Players production of "Tom Sawyer" proved very entertaining to young and old alike.

Bruce Richards in the title role made a very real Tom. In and out of scenes he went, each time getting in deeper and deeper.

Joan Stamper as Becky scored in the cave episode. She was certain of dying any minute and convinced she was ready to go.

The tall figure of Injun Joe (Harry Kalkman) dominated two or three scenes. Muff Potter (Robert Carter) was cast as Injun Joe's unfortunate victim who was blamed for the murder of Dr. Robinson (John Peters). Joe, of course, was the guilty one.

One of the most outstanding performances was by Harry Kalkman. As Huck Finn, Harry brought to life the unforgettable character of Mark Twain's stories. Wednesday, January 19, he and Bruce Richards gave students in the Farmington district a preview of "Tom Sawyer". Five schools were visited. Harry is an eleventh grade student at Highland Park High School.

These actors were ably supported by Louise Goodman as Aunt Polly; Howard Rochelleau as the schoolmaster; Arlene Leslie as Amy Lawrence; Bill Stevens as Joe Harper; Mary Shorick as Susan Harper; Rosemary Stead as Grace Miller; Christine McLaren as Jane Hardin; Lou Lipson as the sheriff; Robert Cooper as Raggedy; Katherine Stevens as Mrs. Harper; Red Schaffer as the preacher; Jean Denworth as Mrs. Thatcher; Henry Makoski as Judge Thatcher; Arne Boesen as the prosecutor; and Ed Peters, who plays the Attorney for the Defense.

The Civic Players can be proud of a job well done.

HI HO SILVER

An added attraction was the appearance of a radio star, Ted Johnson, who has been heard on such programs as the Lone Ranger, Alcoholics Anonymous, Challenge of the Yukon and Green Hornet. If you're a listener of the Hermit's Cave, the howling hound is none other than Johnson.

CAPT ENTERTAINED

After the performance, the cast retreated to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Richards for a party. A buffet lunch was served to the guests.

SITTERS' GROUP FORMED BY CLUB FOR TRIP MONEY

The Senior Trip Club has organized a Sitters' Club as a means of earning money for their trip to Mackinac this spring.

There are at present eleven girls in the Sitters' Club. When a sitter is wanted, the first girl on the list will be called, followed by the second, and so on down the list. In this way everyone will get a chance to "sit". It will be tried, though, to keep each girl near the vicinity in which she lives — thus solving the transportation problem as much as possible.

Sitters can be obtained by calling Byron Oliver, Farmington 1235, or Katherine Kingsley, Farmington 1336. The rate charged is 35 cents an hour, and 45 cents after 12 p.m. C. L.

STUDENTS ENJOY SKATING PARTY

Saturday seemed a normal day to most people, but the class of '22 will disagree.

Boarding the bus at 2:30 p.m., thirty-five members of the freshman class went to a roller skating party at the Riverside Arena.

"Roller Skating and West may never meet," said Don Byrne, "I and the floor shall never part," which seemed to be the general impression of the freshmen. Races and stunts on skates provided the most fun and helped make the party a success. The sponsor for the outing was Mr. Snel, who said, "A little different from skating, but I think it's a good project and look forward to future skating parties."

Bowling News

After six weeks of languishing in second or third place, Captain Bill O'Connor led his Pin Kings back into the league lead.

This was accomplished in a thrilling match with the 777s last Thursday night. As the day's bowling began, Gardner's team was two points off the pace and needed a clean sweep of four points to take first place.

The Kings took the first game by 61 pins as Dean Whitehead bowled a 157 game.

However, the second game was a different story. The 777s started fast and led until the sixth frame, when the Pin Kings got around. Then the 777s pulled even in the ninth, and the game depended on the last frame. Gordon, Giroux and Stephen failed to mark; Dean Whitehead picked up a difficult spare to go one mark up.

This meant that in order to win, two of the 777s had to get spares. Leonard Desmet, lead-off bowler, stepped up; but the best he could do was to fell eight pins. Bill O'Connor fired his ball down the alley. It hooked into the "Briek line" side for a strike. This brought the 777s to within one mark of victory.

As Dale Gillespie failed to mark, the situation was placed up to Captain Dick Wheeler. Wheeler confidently stepped up to the line; his ball hooked to the left of the headpin for six pins. The game and first place depended on his next ball. He let his ball go. It started for the pins, but hooked away for a miss, making the Pin Kings kings once more.

On alleys one and two, the up and coming Foxy Flops swept four points from the Hot Shots to go within four points of first place. The Flops were led by Jim Byrne, who bowled a 432 series. Bill Gores and Jim White were close behind with 420 pins each.

In the last match the Gutterboys took three points from the third place Alleys. The Gutterboys were paced by Gordon Rowe.

Next week the Pin Kings bowl the Foxy Flops, while the 777s take on the Alleys and the Gutterboys meet the Hot Shots.
