Shut-Ins Need Cheerful News

On February 13, a birthday party will be held for the shut-ins at the Glenbrook Hospital, 20500 Newbrook Road, Farmington.

The teenage group that has offered to help this month wishes their plans to be kept a surprise. Of course there will be a big cake and all that goes to make a party a gala affair. (Note: anyone wishing to take part in the March party is asked to call Mrs. Fred Grimst, VErmont 63434).

How long has it been since you have sent a friendly note to an old friend? Why not drop a line to Mrs. Mary Heiker, 30100 12 Mile Road, Route 4, Farmington, or to Bob Harvey, in the Oakland County T.H. Sanatorium, Pontiac 11, Michigan? Both would enjoy some friendly cards. Bob is a former G. I.

At the VA Hospital, on Outer Drive and Southfield, Dearborn, these shut-in vets would like to hear from anybody: R. Harris, William Yates, Ray Nelson, Mr. Steward, Mr. Johnson and Mr. Fox.

Alton Ferrault, 1331 Columbia Avenue, Detroit 28, would enjoy hearing from some of his old friends about town. Alton has been in and out of the hospital for the past two years. His brother, Paul, has been laid up for 11 months with a leg injury.

Have you ever thought of the cheer you could bring by writing to a person in some far-off country? It is fun, to say nothing about the possibility of unity among nations such letters may bring. Remember, though, you will need five cent stamps on letters and three cent stamps on view cards. Here are some people to write to:

Maria Aparecida Leite, 950 Rua Eugenio De Lima, Sao Paulo, Brazil, whose birthday is March 3.

Erwin Furler, 77 Elizabethenstrasse, Basle, Switzerland, who would enjoy hearing from folks interested in music and art.

Mrs. Dorothy Powell, "Duncannon", Binstead Road, Ryde, Isle of Wight, England, who would like to hear from friends interested in music and reading.

"full guy".

What would be the effect of the Williams tax on corporation profits?

According to Harvey Campbell, executive vice-president of the Detroit Board of Commerce, it would encourage flight of capital to other states.

Quoting Campbell: "You cannot estimate the damage that has been done to Michigan, by the income tax threat that came out of Lansing before the Governor's oath got cold. Already we have heard from local industrialists who plan plant expansion but figure that they're not wanted here so they're looking to less extravagant sites in which to extend their payrolls."

"It has happened before — and it will happen again, because politicians can't seem to learn that payrolls are sensitive and aren't compelled to stay in one place."

"Many years ago, before C. W. Nash got together with the Kelvinator folks, we submitted an engineering analysis of his business and sent it to him in Koshons. The chief factor to urge him to establish his automobile plant in the Detroit area among his competitors was the tax situation in Wisconsin."

"Later we met Mr. Nash himself, here a few days later and we'll never forget our conversation. The kindly old gentleman said, 'Look at your headlines from Lansing! Why should I seek refuge from Wisconsin taxation when your own state officials threaten me with that same treatment if I transfer my plants to Detroit!'"

Governor Williams has a ready answer: "Mining corporation profits can well afford to pay a 'reasonable' tax increase; consumers now pay 75.4 per cent of the bill. The tax chickens are looking for a place to roost. Will it be in the big cities?"

Baby Chicks' Pedigree Helps Avoid Losses

Don't let cold weather keep you from planning about your spring poultry operations, says Howard Zindel, Michigan State College extension poultry specialist.

To avoid losses from disease, it's a good idea to know the background of chicks that you buy. They should come from flocks that have a history of producing lots of large eggs.

Shop around now and place your order so you don't have to be disappointed when the time comes to get going on the poultry enterprise.
