

JINGLE BELLS!! JINGLE BELLS!!

Now it's downright disgustin' — that's what it is. We buys us some little bells what'll jingle and ties 'em to the light cords thinkin' they'd make some tinkles and you know they jest hang there. Does anybody know where we could git a Swiss bell-ringer to run around and shake the durned things? We're gonna be too busy. On the 21st (that's Wednesday) we'll keep the jermt open in the afternoon so our store hours fer Christmas week will be Monday - Tuesday - Wednesday - Thursday - Saturday 8 to 6 and Friday 8 to 9. The store will not be open on the 26th. Now that we got that taken care of guess we'd better git down to business. Does anybody want a cute little kitten? She's awful purty. Didcha order yer holiday foy? They're awful nice! Are yuh tired and run down? Have you tried Devonshire Poultry Stiffin'? It's the best prepared dressing we ever et. We tried it with baked spare ribs and it turned out a mighty tasty dish. Now if you'd like to try it step right up to the meat counter and gitcher spare rib. It's 39¢ a lb.

We got a lotta candy canes we'd like to sell yuh. We got nickle and two cent sizes. Now if you school marns would like some we'll give yuh a price on 'em by the box. Anen we'd suggest you don't wait too long to gitcher Christmas nuts in. We got quite a few right now but the pile is sure goin' down fast. Then for a quickie salad diddya ever put a slice of cranberry jelly on a pineapple ring? We got the jelly fer 19¢ a can and the pineapple fer 39¢. Somethin' else we got that should interest yuh is stuff fer yer holiday cocktail parties. Didchever eat an olive stuffed with an anchovy — or an almond — or some roquefort cheese? We got 'em. We got all kinds of fancy stuff. Jest look in the window and see. Maybe you'll git an idea fer somethin' new and different. We aint even tasted all that stuff we got here — never even heerd of some of it.

Don't suppose yer much interested in meats right now but in case you wanna eat fer a few days yet the guys in the meat department suggests some ground beef fer 49¢ a lb. Fry it — cream it — or bake it — it's still ground beef. Then they snagged onto some Pinconning cheese — aged and strong — fer 69¢ a lb. If we don't git rid of it this week end maybe next week it'll meet yuh at the door. Suppose if we'd keep some of it till it gits strong enuf to walk we could fergit about that Swiss bell-ringer — we hope.

Board Approves

(Continued from Page One) retarding the Farmington Board of Education. The teacher visits the schools for a one hour period. Children whose parents have not filled a written request for this training leave the room and are taught regular school subjects during the interim of the religious training.

Claiming this represented a breach of the constitution as set forth in a decision by the Supreme Court, Samuel Kosinsky appeared before the board last evening. The board consisted of its attorney, and this meeting had its attorney, calling the teaching unconstitutional.

Meanwhile, members of the board and president Domes had received more than a score of letters supporting the board in its desire to retain the teacher. Mr. E. E. Babbler moved the board continue the education. Curt Hall amended the motion by having it continued until an "unobjectionable" number of parents object. The motion was unanimously approved as amended.

SEK RURAL SCHOOL

The board also authorized superintendent O. E. Dunckel to formulate a program for getting petitions for a rural agricultural school initiated. Under the plan, Farmington schools would receive an additional $5000 per year from the support of the community if the school was operating a rural agricultural school. To obtain the aid, a school must have courses in shop and home economics, some phase of agriculture, and must transport pupils more than a mile to school. The number of pupils so transported determines the amount of aid the school would receive.

According to Dunckel, it is quite likely the number of students carried more than one mile by school buses in the Farmington district would obtain the maximum aid for the school system, $5000. Only changes in curriculum necessary would be the addition of some agricultural subject. This could be landscape or home gardening, or a conservation subject, Dunckel stated.

Petitions must be signed by 50 per cent of the district's electors to establish the school.

NIGHT FOOTBALL?

The question of Farmington's having a night football field was brought up by Ernest E. Hickman, 2446 Orchard Lake Road. Mr. Hickman, new resident in Farmington, asked the board what past considerations had been made of night football at the time the Board's feelings had been.

Curt Hall, trustee and member of the Exchange Club committee which started work toward obtaining a night football field for Farmington, discussed the Exchange Club's findings. Expense of the field would run from $9,800 to $33,000, he said, and the cost for the electric lights were not listed. However, Hall was appointed a committee of one to further investigate possibilities of establishing a night football field.

The survey will be made to determine how good the light in the old buildings is, and what steps could be taken to improve it both temporarily and permanently.

The school board also authorized

Superintendent Dunckel to designate specific areas in the buildings to be used by smokers. Smoking in school buildings, especially by large groups, has constituted a fire hazard, Mr. Dunckel stated.

Also authorized by the board were a hearing clinic, to be held sometime next year. The dental clinic approved by the board will be as soon as a dentist becomes available for service at Farmington. The clinics are provided by the County Superintendent of Schools.

CHRISTMAS PARTY

The Farmington Lions Club will play host to a large group of underprivileged children at a special Christmas Party on Tuesday, December 20. Six 20-pound turkeys will be served to the young guests by the Lions Club and Santa Claus will be there with a big evening of entertainment.

The annual Clarenceville P.T.A. Christmas party will be held on Tuesday, December 20, it was announced last week. The party will be held in the Clarenceville gym this year.

The annual, scheduled for 8 p.m., will be presented by the Clarenceville Cub Scout packs.

Goodfellows

The family is given an order on one of the local stores, size depending on number of children in the family. The family exchanges the order for the merchandise it needs, and the Goodfellows give a check to the merchant in exchange for the order.

Although no conditions accompany the order, local merchants are relied on to insure against misuse of the Christmas funds. Regular welfare orders make no allowance for Christmas luxuries. Goodfellow orders allow a little more leeway.
