Registration Set For Homemakers' Holiday In Livonia

Registration for the spring session of the Western Wayne County YWCA will be held from 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. Wednesday, March 28, in Rosedale Park Church, Hubbard and West Chicago, Livonia.

Classes will begin in the church the following Wednesday. Information on fees and times for the eight week classes is available by calling the Western YW, 1034 Moore, Dearborn. YW membership is required for all classes.

Aileen Grey, YWCA program director, will teach a six-week camping course to give women camping shortcuts and help them enjoy camping with the family.

Miss Grey was the "queen of the road" for single women campers in the 1972 Detroit Trailer Show.

Morning classes will include exercise, to be taught by Gail Wood; yoga with a new instructor; painting for beginners and intermediate students, under the supervision of Marie Kudrieko; knitting and crocheting, taught by Lillian Hickey; and golf, taught by Dun Rovin pro Earl Myers.

In the afternoon there will be three home decoration crafts taught by Joyce Sauchak. Also scheduled will be a pot pourri course covering health foods, women's liberation, home safety, self defense, today's fabrics, beauty and vacation ideas.

Club Plans Workshop

Analytic listening is the topic for the next meeting of the International Toastmistress Clubs at 1 p.m. Tuesday, March 27, in the Peoples' Federal Savings and Loan Bank conference room, Beech Daly and Joy Roads, Redford Township.

Members will participate in a workshop entitled "Learn How to Listen, Then Listen to Learn." The program is being arranged by Mrs. John Ralston and will be conducted by Mrs. Stuart Shaulter, Mrs. Earl Philip, Mrs. Mildred Whyte and Mrs. Noble Burgener will also participate. Guests are welcome and membership applications will be available.
