

Know Your Farmington Merchant . . . Dime Store Proprietor Says Merchants Should Organize

Once more the plea for an organization of Farmington merchants is heard — this time from one of the merchants themselves, Mr. Max Olshansky. Mr. Olshansky operates Mac's Five Cents to Five Dollars Store at 33317 Grand River, where he has been in business since September of 1936.

Mr. Olshansky says, "I believe the merchants can do a lot to improve the community if they would organize, thereby regulating the store hours, coming to a satisfactory agreement on the parking situation, and competing with all other problems that may arise."

The store owner also says cus-

To the Attention of Dog Owners:
During the past few months I have had several complaints of dogs doing damage to property, livestock, and many dog bites. Parents have to escort their children to school buses with a club in their hands to keep dogs that are running loose from bothering them.

These things are hard for me to comprehend. As I am only one person, I really need more support and COOPERATION from you. I have talked to nearly everyone in this township at some time or other during the past year. You people who own dogs say that you think an awful lot of your dog. Then why don't you show me and the township that you do?

During the past week I have been called out every night to bury a dog or two that some careless person forgot to keep under control. Most of these dogs are some child's pet, so when not kept under control by someone, they roam all over. Then they are in trouble of some sort or another. Then when the owner is found he is liable for damages.

You who own female dogs are to blame for these dogs that are running hog wild all over, yet you call me wanting something to make them pay for the damages that their dog did your property.

My last word of advice to you is this: either cooperate with me or put up with these conditions that you have created yourself. I have tried to give you the service you expect in accordance with state regulations. But my effort has been nil. If you think that you have someone else in this township that can do better than I have, please get him. For I don't think you people in the township really know what the word cooperate means.

Yours truly,
James D. Ethier,
Dep. County Dog Warden

Retail Clothiers Will Meet Feb. 16 At U-M

The Michigan Retail Clothiers and Furnishers Association will hold its annual meeting at the University of Michigan February 16. Paul W. McCracken, associate professor of business conditions in the University's School of Business Administration, will address the clothiers. Groups will meet to discuss mutual problems. Nearly 250 members are expected to attend the conference which is being planned by the Association and the University's Bureau of Business Research.

Highlight of the meeting will be "Fashion First in Men's Wear", a show with students modeling men's clothing.

SUNSHINE LADY REQUESTS CARDS FOR SHUT-INS

So many cards and letters have come to my home from folks about Farmington saying they miss the list of names of shut-ins each week, that I wish to say it isn't because I have lost interest.

My own dear husband is near death with cancer of the brain in Mt. Carmel Hospital. And the long days are trying, as they are for many others at Mt. Carmel.

Little three-year old Louise DeTor has been near death for the past five weeks. Your prayers will be a great comfort to her wonderful parents, who never leave her side.

20-year old Mike Hadus, in room 3384 has been a shut-in since last June, with one illness or another following a broken back. Please send him a cheerful note.

Mr. Herman Sachs will be a shut-in for many weeks to come. His home is in Chicago. A card sent him in care of Mt. Carmel Hospital will make the long hours seem much shorter.

In the same room as Mr. Sachs is Mr. R. Behm. He has many broken bones and it will be long weeks before he can go home.

Cod willing, February 13 will be our 25th wedding anniversary. Mrs. August Terreault (The Sunshine Lady) 11311 Columbia Ave. Detroit 28, Michigan.

LIONS AUXILIARY

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Farmington Lions Club met Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Virgil Campbell, 21277 Oxford. The business meeting was followed by card games and refreshments. Hostess at the group's next meeting, March 2, will be Mrs. H. R. Tracy.
