account for an additional $8.7 millions.

Out of the net increase of $4.6 millions for state agencies; $2.5 millions would go to colleges to supplement declining revenue from GI students; $223 thousand for mental health.

Declaring that Michigan had not kept pace with social needs as indicated by our expanding population, the Governor proposed $27.9 millions to construct new buildings at institutions such as mental hospitals, Wyandale University, University of Michigan, Michigan State College and Western College of Education. A 50-bed addition would be constructed to the Michigan Tuberculosis Sanatorium at Gaylord, and other construction undertaken for a total of $650,000.

Declaring that "our whole economy is being hampered by the lack of adequate trunk highways," Governor Williams advocated that the Legislature spend $18.5 additional millions for road repair and construction. These improvements would be financed from the general fund to be covered by the corporations profits tax along with other needs.

Governor Williams took the position that a corporation profits tax would not be paid indirectly by the consumer, despite assertions of Michigan automobile manufacturers that approximately 50 per cent of the cost of a 1950-made automobile consists of direct and indirect taxes.

Within 60 days the issues of the 1950 campaign should be well crystallized.

Eggs are on the plentiful list and can help your food budget these days. You can serve omelets in a variety of ways and can dress them up with sauces. To make a flat omelet, blend all the ingredients together. For a fluffy one, beat the yolks and whites separately. Eggs will whip more quickly to a greater volume if they are at room temperature.

Report No Winter Fish Kill On Lakes

With the winter season half over, the conservation department reports the mild weather so far has eliminated the necessity of opening any lakes to emergency harvesting because of winter fish kill.

Water oxygen content and other factors vary on individual lakes, but a critical condition is not likely to exist unless snow covers the ice for at least several weeks.

When "winterkill" occurs or is threatened, the director of the conservation department is authorized under the law to open the lakes immediately to fishing by any means for any species of fish.

Winterkill is suffocation of fish that occurs when the dissolved oxygen in the water drops below one part per million. Usually it happens in shallow lakes rich in vegetation, under snow cover has shut out sunlight for weeks or months. Without light the plants cease to produce oxygen, die and take up oxygen as they decay, further reducing the fishes' supply.
