SHS Students Win 10 Honors For Writing

SOUTHFIELD
A number of student journalists from Southfield High School earned 10 honors, nine in Journalism, in this year's Scholastic writing awards contest.
A gold achievement key, highest honor in the competition, went to Sharon Rapp for her column "Telly Like It Is."
A satirical look at television, the column was a regular feature in the Southfield JAY and also received honorable mention in the same contest last year.
A commendation was awarded Barbara Mackenzie in the poetry classification.
Commendations in the Journalism categories were earned by: Toby Shipper for news coverage of a school assembly featuring Sgt. John Sexton, former POW from Vietnam; Bob Craft for feature story on the school's new student-run store; and Mark Lundell for a sports feature on a skier's dilemma the first time he faces the slopes.
Sandra Dorland won three commendations in the areas of news, editorial and interview stories. Her news story was a progress report on organized study.
Her winning editorial urged passage of the school millage proposal in the spring of 1973. The interview was with a student, Joe Sanders, who had enrolled in West Point.
Sanders also won a commendation in the interview category for his story on Mark Howe, son of Gordie Howe, in the same category.
Janet Norris earned a commendation for an interview with an SHS student running for the school board.
Gold achievement key winners received an engraved dictionary and certificate of merit. Commendation winners receive certificates.

Boat Show Runs Until April 7

A wide variety of boats ranging from outboards to pontoons are displayed at the Twelfth-Mall Boat Show in the mall at 12 Mile and Telegraph in Southfield.
The show will continue through April 7 and is open from Monday through Saturday, 10 a.m. until 9 p.m., and from 12 noon until 5 p.m. Sunday.
Chrysler Motors, in conjunction with Aarbor Marine of Oak Park, has displayed a complete line of bass boats specially designed for bass fishing. They are outfitted with depth finders, electric trolling motors, power tilt and trims.
Capt. Al Lesh, a professional fisherman and charter captain, gives tips on fishing techniques and equipment and maps of Michigan's best fishing spots.
Cabin cruisers, sailboats and canoes are also displayed.

Allen Stawis Becomes MD

SOUTHFIELD
Allen Stawis, 19150 Dorset, Southfield, has received a doctor of medicine degree from Michigan State University.
Dr. Stawis is one of the seven members of the 1973 class who received MD Degrees one term early by accelerating work in MD requirements at MSU's College of Human Medicine. He will begin a one year internship this spring in Flint's Hurley Hospital, where he took his community clerkship.
Stawis took his premedical work in MSU where he earned a BS with high honors in zoology.
At MSU's College of Human Medicine, he worked as a teaching assistant in anatomy, was vice president of the Student American Medical Association chapter, and worked on a hepatitis research project.

Think Twice

The problems of poverty, education, youth, and the aged are very real to us when we see them in our own communities. We must answer this call for help.

But for us there can be no geographical boundaries when it comes to a fellow Jew in need. We must also respond to the call of the new immigrants to Israel... those courageous, determined Jews who are removed from us only by distance.

70,000 immigrants will come to Israel this year. Many have given up everything for the opportunity to live as Jews among their brethren. Their needs for housing, education, health care and job retraining are our responsibility. A responsibility we accept proudly. A tribute to the heritage we, as Jews, claim as our own.

We keep the promise when we help build Jewish lives here at home... and in Israel... wherever a Jew is in need.
