VARSITY DROPS GARDEN CITY CONTEST 29 - 26

The Clarenceville Trojans dropped their second game by three points to Garden City Tuesday, February 12, by a score of 29 - 26. This was a low-scoring defensive game in which three of the Trojan foulouts fouled out.

The Trojans held Garden City to one field goal in the first period, but trailed at the end of the first period 9 to 7 when Garden City sunk seven out of nine free shots. Robbittie scored three points out of the seven for the Trojans.

The second period was the lowest scoring period of the game when Clarenceville scored six points to Garden City's five, cutting Garden City's lead to one point at the half. Rousseau scored three of the Trojans' six points in the second period, with the score 14 to 8 at half time.

Clarenceville took a four point lead in the third period on baskets by Rousseau, Edmonds, Townsley, Albers and Evans to make the score 23 to 19 at the end of the third period.

Garden City held Clarenceville to three points, all of which were made on free throws, two by Rousseau and one by Evans, while putting in ten points themselves for a three point lead when the final buzzer sounded, 29 - 26.

Elmer Rousseau was high point man for the Trojans with seven points, followed by Jerry Albers and Bob Townsley with four each.

Senior Hi-Lite

This week's senior hi-lite is a "Georgia Peach". She was born in Atlanta, Georgia, on June 4, 1934, and her nickname is Peach. She is now 17½ years old, stands 5'2½" and has brown hair and brown eyes.

She is quite a religious enthusiast, belonging to Voice of Christ Youth, and her main ambition is to enter into religious education. Her favorite song is "Stardust". Perry Como is her favorite vocalist.

Wherever there's a basketball game, a TV murder mystery, or a good movie going on, you'll find Lee Chandler, our senior hi-lite. B. G.

This young man's name, to begin with, is Tom Hartford, but the football players dubbed him by the name of Humphrey. His eyes are brown and his hair is dark brown with slight waves all over the place. He stands six feet from the ground up and weighs 200 pounds. He came into this world on May 30, 1936, in Savannah, Illinois.

Favorite pastimes with him are going out with the girls and listening to his favorite song, "Tell Me Why". He dislikes ever having a fight.

His most embarrassing moment was when he was born and most exciting moment was when his father broke down and let him have the car. As for a hobby, he enjoys public speaking and arguing with his debate partner, Annie Allan.

Tom plans to go to either Lawrence Tech or the University of Michigan for a college training and study aeronautical engineering. (That's a dilly to pronounce.)

His favorite band is Benny Goodman's trio (love that Dixieland) and coming to the school dances are his best sport for a date, so he figures. Main ambitions for a million dollars and buy a brand new, hep, supercar. — Model T.

That's all for now, but don't you think Tom has certainly proved himself an interesting senior hi-lite?

Hearing Clinic Visits

School February 11 - 18

The State Health Department, through the Wayne and Oakland County Health Departments, sponsored a hearing clinic for all students in the Wayne and Oakland County districts. The clinic was held from February 11 to 18 in the Clarenceville district. Students in the elementary grades received their tests Monday and Tuesday while the high school students received theirs Wednesday and Friday. This is the second year the hearing program has been held in the Clarenceville School District. The purpose of the tests is to discover the children with hearing defects and notify their parents so that special attention may be given to them. With this attention a student may receive help and corrected hearing.

Homemaking Girls Study Foods

The senior girls who are in Homemaking 111 sure are going to be wonderful cooks. At the present time they are studying a unit on foreign foods which consists of delicious salads, meats, vegetables, dressings, frying, baking and so on. To climax the unit on foreign cooking, the class will visit a foreign restaurant for dinner and see how food is prepared commercially.

These industrious senior girls also have plans under way for a progressive dinner. Each girl will have a course of the meal at her house. One girl may have a vegetable soup, another may have the meat and they will proceed in this way until they arrive at Mrs. Mummary's home in Northville where they will have their dessert and recreation.

Every Wednesday is coffee day for the girls. The coffee cake and coffee are made by a different group in the club.

After they have finished cooking, baking and burning themselves, the girls will have time this semester to plan and carry out a "free" unit. This means they may study any phase of Homemaking in which they are keenly interested.

Homemaking 111, which comprises girls from the tenth and eleventh grades, is busily studying vocations with an eye to the future. "Cuder vocational preference tests are being used to help them decide. After the results of the tests they will make a thorough study of vocations they are most interested in.

Interviews, resource people, and field trips will complete the unit, leaving the girls better informed and more interested in days that follow graduation.

Meadowbrook Murmurs

By Mrs. Dean Eckert

The "Noise for News" over here has a red macadam under it to day, and the hoarse voice on the phone has been accompanied by a tall glass of ice water and a box of cough drops. "When throats are hoarse and noses are running, send them to school is not a bit funny." Will all you moms hold on to that thought? Forget the place on the report card that tells of absence from school, remind yourself that a cold kept home will keep other children at school. So far this school year, your reporter has also acquired each batch of germs carried from school, everything but chicken-pox.

They say we'll be enjoying the mumps next, since it's "going through the schools." A nine-year-old Marie Bury is hosting them now at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Bury of 22219 List Street. Eying her children anxiously is the Bury's next neighbor, Mrs. Charles Grose, whose winter has been free this year of the constant round of nurse duty a mother of four can often get.

"But we haven't had mumps yet," she sighed.

A "Valentine Baby" was David Hallock, who turned 13 last week. A doctor at Clarenceville High, Dave also is a young business man and the eve of his birthday found him at work in a local store. So Mom, Mrs. Allan Hallock, saved his birthday cake and favorite dinner until Sunday. Then Dave was too sick to eat it. He had finally yielded to the brand of flu already enjoyed by his grandparents next door, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Hallock, and his aunt, Mrs. John Keith, who seems to have a new kind of flu, with severe head and dental pain.

There's spring in the air, however, despite the flu germs at the Hallocks' "little brick house on the hill" at 29096 List Street. An archway has vanished and Mrs. Hallock's painting attire not only is due to the paint job in her new double-size living room but because she's changing colors in the entire house. Woodwork as well as walls are on her paint list, and we hope her bounding energy escapes the flu.

The serious illness of her brother caused the Dan Elliotts of 21120 Roosevelt Street to rush home from their vacation in St. Petersburg, Florida, last week. Sunbathed and happy from a winter among many old friends, the Elliotts are waiting for warm weather here now and the return to life of their beautiful yard and gardens. Grandson Murray Hamilton is liking the Navy, we hear. Starting his tenth month as a sailor, he takes many trips off the East coast from his station at Norfolk, Virginia.

"Grandpa Priebe" is a mighty young-looking grandpa, but he just had another birthday February 11 to prove how the years are piling up. And there were 12 grandchildren to shout "surprise" when the family popped into their 2925 St. Francis Street living room Saturday night. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Williams came from Farmington and the Roberts-Williams drove out from Detroit with their three youngsters. From Belleville came Mr. and Mrs. Richard Priebe, Jr., with their three, and from Crescent Lake the Roy Henrys with their six children.
