Joins Agency

Cecil Roberts, Jr., has just joined the Kenn Loomis Insurance Agency, 23224 Farmington Road, Loomis announced this week.

Roberts is 26 years old, is married and lives at 33709 Grand River Avenue. He was born in Detroit but spent most of his life in Ontario, Canada. Roberts was associated with the Colgate Palmyre Fire Company in Hamilton, Ontario, prior to coming to Farmington.

Loomis stated that Roberts will devote his full time to servicing the insurance needs of the agency's customers.

Girl Scouts Plan Circus March 15

As the strains of our National Anthem fall upon the air all of Farmington's Girl Scout Troops will celebrate their 40th birthday in the Farmington High School gymnasium Saturday, March 15, at 7:30 p.m. About 350 Girl Scouts and about 100 adult leaders and workers are expected to participate.

The girls will change their personalities for the evening and will have to look closely to recognize a Brownie, Intermediate, Tween-Hi or Senior Girl Scout under the heavy make-up of a clown, inside the fur of a monkey, or disguised by the dual personality of a fat lady. All the enchantment of a circus will be there. The gypsy-like strains of circus music bidding us to forget our everyday cares and be a child again, the smell of popcorn and the noise of boxes as they vie with each other in attracting everyone's attention. There will be a midway of side shows for the curiosity seekers, a variety show for those wanting entertainment and freaks and clowns for those looking for amusement when the circus folds its tent and the various wild animals have been bedded for the night.

Mrs. Wendell Brown, Tween-Hi Troop, will make a Juliette Love presentation. They will touch on the highlights of Juliette Love's life of Scouting. The audience will receive vivid mental pictures of Girl Scouting yesterday and today. Girls in 1926 and 1952 Girl Scout uniforms and camping outfits will collect birthday money from the various troops. The Girl Scout flag ceremonies will close this memorable evening. No fee is to be charged for all the entertainment and children will receive souvenirs.

Meadowbrook Murmurs

By Mrs. Dean Eckert

If you look real close you can detect a touch of green in the landscape. The air is beginning to tinge up musically, and the calendar says March is nearly half over. Spring always makes life different, somehow. Here's hoping it brings a bright new page for your book.

There's new life in the Clarence Billing family of 2124 Middlebelt Road. Grandchild number five arrived on February 25, the second daughter of the Walter Gagnons of Oxford Street. Mrs. G is the former Joyce Billings and she's named the new little gal Barbara Jean.

Back to Great Lakes this Sunday goes the Billings son Earl, who has had a wonderful two weeks home after completing his basic Navy training. Earl doesn't know yet what plans lie ahead for him, but he plans to make a real career of the Navy. Daily visits to relatives in the locality included a stop Saturday at Crosse Pointe where he found his grandparents, the Sam Billings, both in fine health. "Ma and Pa" Billings were former Middlebelt Road neighbors.

The Girl Scouts of the Clarenceville Association are banquetting tonight at the Odd-Fellow Hall and it was so much fun last year that they're having it another Father-Daughter affair this year. Mrs. Charlotte Rice is general chairman and the Rebecas are serving the dinner. A dance recital will highlight the program after the 6:30 dinner.

Serving 18 for dinner is already "small stuff" for Mrs. Richard Schulkins, even though she's been keeping house only three years. The crowd around the Schulkins' big dining room table Sunday were celebrating the 39th birthday of their great aunt, Mrs. Helen Martins of Detroit. Among the guests were Mrs. Schulkins' parents, the Emmet Houghtons of Farmington, and her brother's family, Mr. and Mrs. Emmet Houghton, Jr., with Llada and Emmett III.

It was birthday time last week at the Willis Dix home on Middlebelt Road. Greg turned age two on March 4 and Gary blew out his first candle that day, too, although his birthday wasn't until the 7th. They each had their own cake, despite celebrating the same day. Dinner was "up at Grandma's", the George Gildemesters of Farmington Road, and Gary was taking his first steps to live the party.

The Mardi Gras is a magic word for most would-be travelers, but it's been a wonderful reality for Beverly LaFollette of Dresden Street, who just returned from the colorful parades and pageants of New Orleans. With an office co-worker from Dearborn, she went to the Gulf Coast event by train, and they took a side-trip to Bilzoi, Mississippi, where they had heard the swimming was good. You guessed it, it was too cold to swim all the time they were there.
