ADD NEW ADULT CERAMICS CLASS AT CLARENCEVILLE

A new adult class in ceramics will begin April 17 at the Clarenceville High School as a part of the Clarenceville Adult Education program. Louis Schmidt, superintendent, announced Tuesday.

The first ceramics class has just been completed and sufficient interest has been displayed for the formation of a second class. Mrs. Theima Steins will continue as instructor for the new class. Anyone interested in the ceramics class is requested to contact either Mrs. Stephens or Mr. Mara of the Clarenceville School staff.

Because of the heavy enrollment in type, the class has been divided into two sections. There are approximately 40 adults in the class. The new Tuesday night section began April 1 and will continue on Tuesday evenings.
