

Regardless of what fuel is used, excessive smoke is unnecessary and wasteful and is a sign of poor equipment or improper firing. For a variation on the ham-burger theme, broil the meat topped with tomato slices that have been brushed with garlic butter.

Meadowbrook Murmurs

By Mrs. Dean Eckert

This is the time of year we take our hats off to a profession of people who are working at the grass-roots of our civilization. On their shoulders lean the responsibility of educating the generation that will next run the world. The job of a teacher is one of the most time and soul consuming occupations a person can have, and we parents of the Clarensville school district all join in saying "Thanks" to a fine group of teachers who have worked hard this year.

Another vote of thanks goes to the "Room Moms" whose duties have increased each year since the idea started. Last job of the year for them was yesterday when they served tea and cookies all day to the mothers of next year's kindergarten. Approximately 200 new kindergartners are expected next year, as predicted from last year's census.

A move to Lansing, Michigan is being planned by teacher Corrine Genter, whose work in the Central School kindergarten has been so applauded this year. Since Mrs. Genter intends to stay home next year and start her own kindergarten, students' moms decided to turn the table and do something nice for her. So, a complimentary party in her honor was held Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Raymond Stevenson of 20781 Hugo Street. Co-hosts with Mrs. Stevenson was her co-room mother at the Central school, Mrs. Bbb Dickleson of 20111 Parker. Baby-green and pink streamers fell from a ceiling, bright umbrellas to a basketful of lovely gifts. The party was a complete surprise to Mrs. Genter who had been invited to the Stevenson for lunch. About 28 kindergarten moms appeared too.

Only 11 kindergartners appeared at one of her Friday sessions reported Mrs. Genter. The current red measles epidemic is the cause of this latest absenteeism, with seven more cases reported over the week end. Not enough for teacher but worse for the moms who have more little ones at home to take turns at having it. Reports are that a shot-in-time by the doctor has lightened following cases considerably for little brothers and sisters, however. But how to stop these epidemics before they start is the headache.

While his sister continued the measles epidemic at his house, Kurt Ulrich packed his bag and went camping with his dad, Martin Ulrich of 29204 Eight Mile, last week end. The Y.M.C.A.'s Indian Guide's annual spring jaunt to Kensington Park was their destination, and also joining the fun were Charles Grosse of 29314 List with sons Tom and Dick, Clarence Hoppe of Floral Street with sons Walter and Clarence, Jr., and Vera Kemp of Merriman Road with sons Jim and Dick. Despite the rather damp week end weather and the fact that their lodge was minus windows, the campers all felt fit and happy when they returned home.

Home again after the winter away are Mrs. Marion Johnson and children, Sandra and Larry. Their home on Belfast has been rented this winter to a pair of newly-weds, also named Johnson. Moving away from our neighborhood last week were the George Buchanans, formerly of 29230 Eight Mile Road. They've built a lovely new ranch home in the hills north of Farmington.

Surprised Sunday was Donald Ruff of 28901 Scotton Street whose Thursday birthday was honored by the appearance of relatives from Albion. His sister, Mrs. Maude Polzen, arrived, accompanied by the Edwin Ruffs with sons, Duane and Clarence. With weeks of vacation just around the corner, Clarensville parents are glad to know there's a mission working in our area. Voting a $50.00 contribution to its funds for this summer's program was the Clarensville P.T.A. at its last meeting of the year last week. A movie showing the need and results of a supervised playground probably provoked the vote for the contribution and it would be won.

Dan Guy, Jr., Receives 2nd Lt. Commission

Dan M. Guy, Jr., of 33503 Shilwaukee, received his commission as a Second Lieutenant in the Air Force Reserve, May 27, from Colonel Greame S. Bond, Professor of Air Science and Tactics at Michigan State College, according to an announcement from Air Force ROTC authorities at the college.

While at Michigan State College Guy was a member of the Air ROTC Unit with the rank of captain in the cadet corp.

Shoulder if other community organizations would follow suit. Mr. Andrews, supervisor of the Livonia Parks and Recreation Commission showed the film.

Second grade moms were hostesses at this final meeting Tuesday night, and officers were installed for next year's program. In the future, we should say, for with only one exception the same slate of officers will return next year. They've done a fine job, so why not?

Had a chat the other evening with Little Florence Dennis, whose happy disposition has been keeping the Robert Dennis family at 29225 Dresden Street smiling for about two months now. Like her former P.T.A. President mom, she loves a crowd and plenty of excitement around. Her busy blue eyes are just like mom's.

Dallas Leach Graduates From Boot Training

Seaman Recruit Dallas Duane Leach was graduated from boot camp at Great Lakes Naval Training station Saturday, May 17, during an Armed Forces ceremony. There were 5,000 recruits graduated during the services.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Leach of Power Road, accompanied by Miss Ruth Gazley, attended the exercises held at Ross Field at the Training Center.

Leach, an employee of the Kroger Company before entering the Navy, is a 1949 graduate of Farmington High School. He expects to be home for a two-week leave this week.
