MSC, REO START ON-JOB TRAINING FOR ENGINEERS

Michigan State College and Reo Motors, Inc., Lansing, have established a cooperative training program for undergraduate engineering students.

The program becomes effective in the fall term, according to MSC Engineering Dean Lorin G. Miller and W. W. Walworth, Reo vice-president in charge of engineering.

Purpose of the program is to provide in-training job experience for student engineers while they are studying for degrees. To qualify for the program, students must have completed two years of college work and be enrolled at Michigan State.

This is the first such program established by the School of Engineering at MSC, although similar projects with several other Michigan industries are expected to go into effect in the near future, Dean Miller said.

About a half-dozen students are expected to start the Reo program this fall, according to Dean Miller, and about 50 should enter the project each succeeding year.

Student trainees will alternate between college classes and the Reo plant, spending three months studying and the next three months in the plant. Working on a full calendar year, students will complete their last two years of college in three years.

Trainees will earn enough money at the Reo plant to defray basic college expenses during the three-year period, Walworth said.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

"Good Neighbor Policy"

Remember one time when I told about the old home-stone wall that separated Easy Roberts' property from Handy Peterson's?

That was when they decided they really didn't need the wall between them in the first place—so they simply stopped repairing it.

Now I hear where a fellow, who bought the old Johnson place, wants to buy all those stones. It seems he figures a stone wall is just what's needed on his property.

From where I sit, if that fellow wants to build himself a stone wall, that's his business. But if it's not really serving any useful purpose he may sooner or later discover—just like Handy and Easy did—that he'd be just as well off without one. Even some old-fashioned walls of prejudice are disappearing—like those that would deny a person's right to a friendly glass of beer now and then. Most Americans are learning that "walls" can get in the way of the persons inside as well as the persons outside.

What's the big idea of DYNAFLOW DRIVE?

6-passenger Super Convertible.

There are all sorts of "drives" and "shifts" on the market. Some still operate entirely by hand. Some depend on shifting gears, but do this automatically. Some feed the power through oil, but use a lock-out device at cruising speeds. But we still think that Dynaflo® is the best of all for this simple reason: The big idea of Dynaflo Drive is to make life easy for the driver. In traffic, you can start and stop, slow down, accelerate with complete and infinite smoothness—because no gears have to shift, ever, in Dynaflo Drive. So there's no lurch, buck or bobble. Dynaflo always feeds power with a steady, willing swoop—at 3 miles an hour or 30—or as high as it's legal to go. On hills, you get the same sure, steady, unfaltering power-feed for the same reason. No gears ever shift. On a long day's drive, you can ride with wonderful freedom from tension—your foot relaxed on the throttle—because you always drive through oil. And at any speed you get a smoother ride, in part because Dynaflo Drive provides such a smooth and gentle linkage between that mighty Fireball 8 Engine and the rest of the chassis. But this is not all. Our service records show that Dynaflo also makes life easier for your bank account. It saves wear and strain on the engine, banishes the cost of clutch repairs, saves strain on the transmission and even on the rear tires. There are a lot of other good reasons for buying a Buick—its style, its room, its ride, its power, its thrift, its durability—and its price. When you can get all this—plus Dynaflo Drive—why be a holdout? Come in and give Dynaflo a try today. Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. *Standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.
