Repaired Water Pump Installed In City Well

The city water pump which broke down several months ago has been repaired and installed in the well located at the City Park. City Manager James Tennant stated this week.

Tennant stated that the large pump, which was installed in the well during the water emergency, has been removed and will be installed in the third well in the next few weeks. The large pump was ordered for the third well and was installed in the smaller well only as an emergency measure.

A maintenance service is being inaugurated at all three wells to check the efficiency of the pumps and to locate any wear before the pumps actually break down.

THE MICHIGAN MIRROR

By GENE ALLEMAN

Michigan and their sons and daughters spells the difference between carnage and safety on our roads.

Do these incidents sound familiar?

"Can't you get a driver's license for my father? Sure, he's 78 and doesn't see well but he needs to drive to get around. Remember, I worked in the 17th Ward for your boss, the sheriff, last election." So Grandpa gets a license and eventually a head-line reader:

Aged Driver Stricken At Wheel; Three Dead In Crash.

"Yep. Made it from Tawas to Detroit in three hours! Had it up over 100 plenty of the time, too."

And the headline: "Speeding Car Leaves Road; Driver Maimed."

"Yes, I guess Junior drives a little reckless some times. But after all, he's only young once and a kid's got to have some fun."

Hot Rodders Race On Highway; Four Cars In Fatal Collision.

"Look, Judge. Can't you fix this ticket for me? After all, I slowed down at the intersection." Mother Hurt As Car Runs Stop Sign.

"Those darn cars are always trying to stick somebody on a speeding charge. Why don't they go out and catch crooks instead of picking on an honest citizen?" Speeder Kills School Child.

All these headlines are taken from Michigan newspapers. You have undoubtedly heard enough of the comments to realize that they are accurate, too.

Until Michigan wakes up to the grim toll of highway tragedies, until Michigan realizes it isn't smart, or socially accepted, to violate traffic laws, highway deaths will outnumber those of any industrial field.

It's to wake up his readers, to mobilize public opinion to wiping out unsound and unsafe laws, practices and public acceptance that your editor and his fellow newspapermen are embarking on an intensive campaign to make streets and roads of Michigan safer for you, and his readers.

One of the more decorative aspects of the Lansing scene are the "aunts" of various Michigan festivals who call to pay their respects at the Capitol. One of the most charming is Dione Coval who regaled over the Romeo Peach Festival this week end.

She passes out the information that peach trees, like field crops have to be rotated. Apple trees are the alternate crop. Peach trees last 8 to 10 years, bear after the first two years. Apple trees last twice as long which makes rotation a problem.

The annual average crop in Queen Dione's kingdom is 20,000 to 30,000 bushels.

If you read your who'dunits in paper-backed volumes, you've been nicked an extra penny sales tax recently.

Because magazines and newspapers are exempt from Michigan sales tax and because the pocket books are handled by new firms, dealers didn't collect the tax until very recently.

"We don't know why the sudden change," says a Department of Revenue spokesman. "Such books have always been taxable and we assume that the dealers have been absorbing the tax in the past."

Trade associations say they haven't protested their members about charging the tax. They think the movement has been spontaneous.

"Our auditors may have spotted the situation in a regular check-up," says the revenue department. "The grapevine usually spreads such news mighty fast."

Whether the cause, it costs a penny more these days to find out that it was the butler who scragged Sir Godfrey Pethy Botherby in the manorial mystery.

To Resume Services At Universalist Church

Services will be resumed this Sunday at the Farmington Universalist Church, bringing to an end the summer recess.

Dr. Frank D. Adams, the church's pastor, will preach on "Three Human Imperatives" at the 11 a.m. service. The junior church's centenary celebration, under the direction of Miss Marion Kellogg, will meet at the same hour in Adams Hall.

Great process has been made this summer toward redecorating the building preparatory to the church's centenary celebration next year. Carpenters and decorators have completed an artistic remodeling and redecoration of the sanctuary with the exception of the floor. New walls and ceiling have been installed and doors, window frames, pews and pulpits painted.

Persons of both the liberal and the orthodox faiths are invited to attend the Sunday service and to see the refurbished interior of this outstanding church.

Church Services Set At First Methodist

The morning worship service at the First Methodist Church of Farmington will begin at 11:15 a.m. and Sunday School classes will start at 10 a.m. Sunday, September 7, bringing to a conclusion the summer schedule.

Sunday School Superintendent Ivan B. Clarke expressed the hope all Sunday School teachers who taught last year will return. Pastor of the church is Rev. Russell Sursaw.

Mrs. H. A. McIntyre attended the Southwest District meeting of the Blue Star Mothers of America held in Lake Odessa Wednesday, August 27. While there she visited with Mrs. George Cook, who attended with Mr. Cook. The Cooks reside on Power Road.

REGISTRATION NOW OPEN IN CITY AND TOWNSHIP

Registration books are now open at the offices of the Township and City Clerks, it was announced this week.

Persons must be registered in order to vote in the November Presidential Election. However, persons who are already registered need not re-register. Because of the heavy registration prior to the Primary Election in August, officials do not expect too many new registrations. Information on the registration deadline will be announced later.

Residents living in the township may register any week day except Monday at the Township office in the Town Hall. The office is also open on Saturday morning, with the exception of August 30, from 8:30 a.m. to noon. City residents may register at the Municipal Building any week day or on Saturday morning.
