Mr. and Mrs. Horace Heywood of Whitcomb, in Detroit, entertained forty-five friends last week at an evening reception honoring their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wheeler and family, who were neighbors of the Heywood family for years when they lived on Fendt Road, were among the guests attending.

Milton Heywood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Heywood, is now serving his country and is stationed somewhere in Germany.

A group from Farmington traveled to Memphis, Michigan, on Sunday morning to hear Rev. David Lowe preach and later had a picnic lunch at a nearby park. On the return trip home the group stopped at Mr. Clemens and spent an enjoyable evening with Mr. and Mrs. Rolly, who are Mrs. Lowe's parents.

Robert John, month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Morris, has already distinguished himself among the new arrivals in our community by boasting a new tooth. This unusual, not only because of his age but also because it is a back molar tooth. The Morris family lives on Shilwaukee.

Mr. and Mrs. Clem Bender of Shilwaukee were week-end guests at the home of Mrs. Louise Hauger in Alger, Michigan.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hill and son George are visiting her husband's parents on the East side of Detroit. Pvt. Junior Lee Hill is expected home on the 28th of September from his post in Alaska.

Mrs. Mildred White and sons spent several days visiting Mr. and Mrs. Charles Taylor. Mrs. Gladys Ogg was hostess on Tuesday evening to thirty-three guests who honored Mrs. Ester Heath at a pink and blue shower. After playing games and all the beautiful gifts were opened, everyone enjoyed a lovely luncheon. Mrs. Margaret Killner, Mrs. Margaret Zehner, Mrs. Mary Taylor, Mrs. Phyllis Taylor, Mrs. Elizabeth Hill, Mrs. Jean Butler and Mrs. Mary Legg, all of Springbrook Drive, were present for the festivities.

Mrs. Robert Rosenboom of Springbrook was confined to her bed with the flu and under the doctor's care. We are glad to report that she is now able to be up and about.

Mr. John Gassner has returned to his home after a month's motor trip to visit relatives and friends at his old home in Nova Scotia.

Johnny Kendrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Kendrick, celebrated his seventh birthday last week.

Pfc. Dean Anataya, who is serving in the Army, was home on a ten day furlough from Dover, New Jersey, to visit his parents on Deering Road.

Twenty-two friends and relatives of Pfc. Dean Anataya gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rosenboom for an outdoor luncheon while he was home on leave. Mrs. Rosenboom is his sister.

Mr. Oliver Kendrick from Tifton, Georgia, is temporarily making his home with his brother, Mr. Homer Kendrick on Springbrook Drive. He hopes to find work here and make his permanent residence among us.

Little Claude Elliott and Gail Guehrer are all excited over taking tap dancing under the instruction of Betty Johnston which they started this past week. The little girls are both seven years old and are cousins.

Mr. Frank Nicholson and his niece, Mrs. Earl Wilson, her mother, Mrs. Ella Rice and son George Rice have returned home from a visit to Toronto, Geuph and Wingham, Canada.

HOME MANAGEMENT EXPERT SUGGESTS CARE TO AVOID COMMON ACCIDENTS

More people are injured in the home than any other place. And more injuries to women seem to occur in the kitchen than any other room. With those startling facts in mind, Olympia Meyer of the Michigan State College home management department offers some concrete suggestions about making your home a safer place to live.

Cuts are the most common injury and so Miss Meyer suggests taking precautions by avoiding improper use and storage of knives, broken china and glass and sharp-edged cans and metal parts on tools and equipment.

Never throw sharp knives in a drawer with other tools, she says, and don't put them in a dishpan with other dishes. A knife rack should be within easy reach and so constructed that the hand does not come in contact with sharp points or edges.

Burns are the second most common injuries. Usually they result from carelessness and thoughtlessness. So, suggests Miss Meyer, turn on hot water faucets cautiously, turn pan handles away from the edge of the range so they can't be knocked or pulled off, and use mats that have flat bottoms with working areas.

securely fastened, well-balanced handles. Other means of avoiding burns are to prepare a place to set a pan of hot food before removing it from the stove; have plenty of pot-holders within easy reach of the range; keep matches in tin or glass containers and out of children's reach; provide children a safe place to play in or near the kitchen, but out of the working area.

Falls rank high as cause of injuries and care should be taken to prevent them, she said. Keep floors and floor coverings in good repair and free from spilled foods.

Test Trout Rearing Box At River Station

A novel trout-rearing box, designed to bring fish from the egg stage to the fry stage in natural habitat, is being tested at the conservation department's Hunt Creek and Pigeon River trout-rearing stations.

The plastic box is placed in a spawning bed of the stream with the eggs inside. A series of vents allows water to flow through the box and allows the young fry to escape after hatching.
