

Council Denies Mystery Zoning

FARMINGTON The project was described as "something that will add substantially to the tax base and would not be a nuisance."

George O'Leary, representing J.L. Hudson Real Estate in Plymouth, mentioned the "need for services" in the industrial area near the parcel, but didn't elaborate.

Interest Lack Danger Signal

Children who show a lack of interest in the classroom may be expressing the signs of an undetected hearing loss, say officials of a crusade for hearing conservation. Such children, the officials stress, should be given a hearing test at the earliest opportunity.

Our deepest sympathy goes to the family of Mrs. Kathryn W. Sullivan who passed away suddenly on April 11. Mrs. Sullivan, better known as "Kay," was much loved for her many kindnesses. She was a member of the Farmington Drop-In Center since her time and was always very active and helpful to many of the club members.

Kay was so proud of her four grandchildren, all college students. Her two grandsons, Ron and Kirk Dusenberry, recently entertained the club with piano selections. She will be missed by all of us at the Drop-In Center.

Mrs. Winona Woods, city treasurer, was hospitalized recently in Botsford General where she underwent major surgery. A speedy convalescence to my friend Winona.

Mr. and Mrs. Harley Walters of Oakland are home after a delightful trip through the deep south. They traveled to Brownsville, Texas, and on the return trip visited Mrs. Walters' mother, Mrs. R. F. Smith, in Nashville, Tenn.

Mrs. D. C. Smith of Farmington spent seven weeks in Largo, Fla., with her two sisters, Helen reports, the weather as ideal and their tour of Disney World as outstanding and beautiful.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Thayer spent 2 1/2 months in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., visiting friends, relaxing and resting. Mrs. Murray (Helen) Dowding and her sister, Mrs. Ray (Mildred) White of Oakland Ave., flew to Florida to visit their sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Gilchrist, in Fort Lauderdale and friends in Orlando.

The three sisters went on a Caribbean cruise which was the high point of their vacation. Mrs. White spent three months in Florida while Mrs. Dowding flew home after three weeks due to business commitments.

Mrs. Jacob M. Hage of Ravencroft writes a very interesting account of their recent vacation to Europe. Mrs. Hage reports this was her first ride in a jet to London. Her husband and she rode in the London underground train, went sight-seeing, visited the Tower of London and saw Queen Elizabeth dedicate London Bridge.

From London they went to Hamburg, Germany, and among many other things stopped at the home of Sonja Becker, North Farmington foreign exchange student. They spent an evening with her father, mother and brother and their pet dog, "Whiskey."

They had lunch and took snapshots. The Hages say they will never forget the family or their hospitality.

From Hamburg they flew to Frankfurt, rented a Mercedes Benz and drove through scenic countryside to a little town called Schwabach where they spent the night. The next day they drove to Neurnburg and the following day returned to Frankfurt to take a plane to Geneva.
